Cases of Wood, Atteaux and Collins Given to Jury at 12.50 O'Clock— Judge's Charge

EDITOR OF I. W. W. PAPER SENTENCED

To From One to Fifteen Years and to Pay $250 Fine for Inciting Hostility to Government

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Wilson today refused to interfere with the death sentence of Nathaniel Green, a negro who last Christmas night assaulted a white woman almost within sight of the capitol. Green will hang Monday and will be the first man to pay a death penalty in the district of Columbia for felonious assault.

JURY WAIVED SESSION

Divorce Granted—Other Cases on Trial

Today witnesses the closing of the jury waived session of the superior court in the court house in Gorbam street and at noon time there was but one case on the list awaiting trial while another was being brought to a close.

The suit of Strogoff against McGauvran in which plaintiff charges the defendant with carelessly allowing certain books and household goods stored with the defendant for a consideration, to become damaged or lost, and with appropriating a part of them to his own use. The defense denies the material allegations. Isaac Harris, Esq., represents the plaintiff with Lawyer William Hogan for the defense. The trial of the case was begun yesterday morning and it was expected would have been completed during the afternoon. It was, however, resumed this morning and shortly before noon was still occupying the court. There were a number of witnesses to be heard and the examination of these required considerable time.

At the opening of the jury waived session, one divorce case was heard and a decree nisi granted to Blanche B. Poole against W. Frank Poole for desertion.

Superior Civil Session

Yesterday in the superior civil session, the defense in the trial of the accident suit for $25,000 of Ernest Lyons vs. Boston Elevated Railway opened its case and this morning continued the submitting of the evidence. Most of the testimony was by experts and an official at present connected with the Edison Electric Co. of Boston was on the stand yesterday and today. There were other expert witnesses to be heard.

Red Sox Visit Mayor

Heinie Wagner, shortstop, Billy Carrigan, catcher, and Buck O'Brien, pitcher, all of the Red Sox aggregation, were visitors at Mayor O'Donnell's office at city hall late yesterday afternoon. The trio motored from Boston and enjoyed a very pleasant hour with the mayor.

BOSTON, June 6.—The cases of the alleged dynamite "planting" conspirators, William M. Wood, Frederick L. Atteaux and Dennis E. Collins, were given to the jury today. Judge John C. Crosby instructed the jurors to return a verdict on each of the six counts of the indictments, but to find the defendants not guilty on the sixth count, which charges conspiracy to injure certain buildings and other property in the city of Lawrence. The other counts specify different and distinct offenses, but all have a bearing on the broad accusation that the defendants conspired to injure the cause of the textile strikers by "planting" dynamite on their premises. The opening of court was delayed for an hour and a half while one of the jurors, Morris Shuman, was charged with Judge Crosby's "liberal" Attorney Joseph Pelletier and counsel for the defense. No explanation of the delay was made when the jurors took their places in the box. Shuman was with the others. A rumor that a mistrial might result was dispelled when the court came in and immediately began the charge to the jury.

In opening the court said that no evidence had been introduced that would substantiate the charge contained in the sixth count.

Taking up the other counts, one by one, the court explained their meaning. The first count charges conspiracy to injure the textile strikers, the second, conspiracy to injure unknown persons, the third and fourth, conspiracy to injure Joseph Assaf and Urbano De Pratto, respectively, by impugning to them the illegal storing of dynamite in premises occupied by them; the fifth, conspiracy to falsely charge unknown persons with illegal storing and keeping of dynamite.

The first and second counts, he said, were substantially the same.

After reading legal definitions of conspiracy the judge said that any agreement to injure any person or persons either as to reputation, character, standing in society or in any other manner constituted a criminal conspiracy.

"If the jury should find that no conspiracy existed, that ends the case," he said, "and the defendants must be acquitted, but if the existence of a conspiracy is established then all facts and declarations of each of the defendants may be considered as evidence against the other defendants."

"The jury must consider whether the acts, conduct, and statements of each of the alleged conspirators standing alone satisfies them that a conspiracy was entered into, in which case the defendants are to be considered conspirators. But if, on the other hand, the acts, conduct and statements of each defendant standing alone do not indicate that an illegal agreement was entered into then you must find them not guilty. Each defendant must be shown from his own conduct and statements to have been in agreement with the co-conspirators before you can find that a conspiracy has been formed."

The court instructed the jury to determine first whether there was any conspiracy.

"Take each separate act of each defendant admissible only against himself; does that point to you such a picture as convinces you of the fact of conspiracy? The evidence of one conspirator cannot be competent against another conspirator after the object of the illegal agreement has been accomplished."

"If you find that any of the defendants did not take part in the alleged conspiracy you must acquit him. Passive acquiescence or silent knowledge of a conspiracy is insufficient to convict."

The court defined "reasonable doubt" and then referred to the failure of Wood to offer a defense. This fact, Judge Crosby said, should have no influence on the minds of the jury. The defendant exercised his right and no inference, either hostile or favorable should be drawn from his attitude.

Referred to Testimony

Judge Crosby referred to the testimony of Collins, who turned state's evidence, that he helped John J. Breen, the confessed "planter," in "planting" the dynamite, but did so in ignorance of the nature of the material he was handling.

"If you believe that he was without guilty knowledge of the dynamite, you should acquit him," said the judge, "but if you find he had guilty knowledge, then you must convict."

The court spoke of the alleged contradictory statements of Breen and said that it was a matter for the jury to consider but only as bearing on the credibility, reliability and weight of his statements as a witness. He spoke of Breen's conviction in the Essex county court and explained to the jurors that it was an established rule of law that a witness' credibility was affected by his conviction for a similar offense.

Given to Jury

The jury retired at 12.50 o'clock. Before beginning their deliberations the jurors had luncheon and it was well into the afternoon before they assembled in the jury room.

PATERSON, N. J., June 6.—Albert Scott, editor of the Weekly Issue, a paper that has been supporting the cause of the silk mill strikers, was sentenced today to serve an indeterminate prison term of not less than a year or more than 15 years and to pay a fine of $250 for inciting hostility against the government. Scott announced that he would appeal and arrangements were made for his release on bail.

Sentencing of 25 men and women convicted yesterday of unlawful assemblage was deferred today. Threats of a renewal of active picketing about the mills as a protest against the convictions were not fulfilled.

One of the 35 is Hannah Silverman, the 17 year old strike leader who was to head the march of mill workers tomorrow from Paterson to New York to participate in the Industrial Workers of the World pageant in Madison square garden. Although the girl obtained her freedom on bail on the unlawful assemblage charge, she may be kept in jail tomorrow under a 20 day sentence imposed yesterday because she persisted in laughing at the proceeding in court.

CLERK KILLS TICKET AGENT

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—James McNair, ticket agent for the Pennsylvania railroad at Union station, was shot and killed at noon today and his chief clerk, Ralph Pauly, was fatally shot by D. C. Sage, a clerk who had failed to be promoted in recent changes in the staff of the ticket department.

GIRL RUN OVER BY AUTOMOBILE

A little Polish girl, aged about seven years, whose name could not be learned, was struck by an automobile at Merrimack square this afternoon, but fortunately her injuries are not serious.

According to people who saw the accident, the little girl was crossing Prescott street at 1.50 o'clock this afternoon, when a touring car, owned and operated by R. Dunford of Chelmsford Centre came along Merrimack street and turned into Prescott street, just as the little girl attempted to make her way across the road.

Thrown to Pavement

The machine was being driven at a moderate rate of speed, it is said, but although the brakes were applied, the child was struck and thrown to the hard pavement, one of the front wheels passing over her right arm, causing a slight wound. Dr. Jones, who happened in the vicinity at the time of the accident, examined the girl, but found no serious injury. Later he took her to her home in Davidson street in his automobile.

The driver of the machine which struck the child brought his automobile to a stop and when he was told the injuries were not serious, he continued his trip after giving his name and address to the police. The accident was the cause of a large gathering at Merrimack square.

Graduating Exercises of Lowell Textile School Held This Afternoon

FRONT VIEW OF THE LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL

The commencement exercises at the Lowell Textile school were held this afternoon at Southwick hall in the school building with a very large attendance of friends and relatives of the graduates which were numerous. A first class program was carried out and previous to the exercises and at the close of the afternoon the entire school was opened to the public, many taking advantage to inspect this modern up-to-date place of education. There were eighteen graduates who were presented diplomas, and two post-graduates who received their degrees. This is the first time in the history of the Lowell Textile school that degrees were granted, for in previous years the school had not the right to do it. However, on Feb. 9, 1912, an act was passed by the legislature authorizing the trustees of the Lowell Textile school to confer the degree of bachelor of science in the departments of textile engineering and chemistry and dyeing to pupils who have taken the full four years' course at the Lowell Textile school in either of said departments and passed

MONEY! MONEY! MONEY FOR PARKS

Hot Shot Fired by Park Board at
Mr. Cummings Who Gave it
Back—$35,000 Wanted

Commissioner Lawrence Cummings attended a meeting of the park commission last night and learned that the commission would like about $35,000 for park purposes. The request was made by Park Commissioner Carr and Mr. Cummings said "out" but on his own account. He was willing to admit that the commission should be given some money but $35,000 was out of the question. Mr. Carr thought the municipal council was voting money for other things not nearly as important as parks and playgrounds. Mr. Cummings said he would present the request of the park commission to the municipal council, but said he would not have the temerity to mention so large a sum.

The commission voted to increase the salary of the superintendent of parks from $1300 to $1600 and Mr. Carr said the superintendent should be supplied with either a good horse or an automobile. Mr. Mignault was not present at last night's meeting. Miss Frye attended the meeting and asked that something be done as soon as possible to improve the appearance and add to the beauty of Varnum park. She asked that flowers and shrubs be placed there. Supt. Kernan stated that lawn had been placed there but that rats from the river frequent the park, burrow in the lawn and destroy it.

Removal of Trees

The matter of ordering the removal of eight trees in Pawtucket street was taken up. Mr. Carr, chairman of the committee on trees, stated that four of the trees might very well be taken out. Any delay in removing the trees, he said, would interfere with the paving work in the street. The matter was referred to the committee on trees.

Mr. Cummings Appears

Commissioner Cummings was a little late in arriving because of a little hearing of his own at his headquarters in the basement, and after the "good evenings" were spoken. Mr. Cummings said: "You have asked for more money for the repair of sidewalks on the commons. I want to ask you what you are going to do with the money you have? I supposed that the money you got was as much for putting the paths in good shape as for anything else."

In reply to Mr. Cummings, Park

Supt. John W. Kernan said: "We haven't any more money at our disposal than enough to keep the edges down on the walks, the lawns cut and the absolute necessities in order. We have 19 men on the pay roll at the present time and the pay roll amounts to about $250 weekly."

In reply to Mr. Cummings, Mr. Kernan said that about the same number of men were employed at this time last year and this, he said, is the busy time of the year.

Mr. Greene said it was necessary for the department, with the little money it has, to cut lawns and trim the edges.

"Men come to my office for employment," said Mr. Cummings, "and they say they are told by the park commission that the municipal council hasn't given you enough money and I tell them that we gave you just as much as was given last year."

Mr. Greene allowed that was very true, but called Mr. Cummings' attention to the fact that there is three times as much parkland to look after now as there was ten years ago and there has been considerable increase in wages.

Mr. Cummings said that the expenses in his department last year were about the same as they were ten years ago, although there is twice as much work to be done now as there was then, and he declared that there wasn't as yet been any money borrowed by the present government unless it was for something wholly necessary.

Mr. Rountree suggested that nothing was being done at Shedd park and it was a shame to have it neglected.

"I don't think many people are worrying over the loss of Shedd park," retorted Mr. Cummings, and just for that little remark all the flies on the park had to get off.

Mr. Rountree—"Well, $12,000 can never run this department."

Mr. Carr—"I've been stalled on this money question all through the year. Mr. Cummings, addressing Mr. Rountree, said: "You wouldn't want any children of yours to go clear to Shedd park to play ball, would you?"

Mr. Rountree—"Well, they do, just the same, and thousands go there in the winter for the skating."

Mr. Cummings—"What has become of the ball ground on the Fort Hill park?"

Mr. Greene—"Men play there about every week."

Mr. Cummings—"I would suggest that some sort of covering be provided for women and children on the Rogers street side of the park. There is nothing there to protect them from the hot sun."

Mr. Greene—"If you had given us $15,000 last year there would now be plenty of trees and shrubs on this spot, and people could get the natural shade. We cannot put anything there unless we get the money."

Mr. Carr—"Didn't the municipal council borrow money to repave Bridge street?"

Mr. Cummings—"Yes."

Mr. Carr—"Do you think that more necessary than to fix up the park system of the city?"

Mr. Cummings—"No, sir."

After several more yards of pros and cons had been recited off, Mr. Cummings asked: "How much do you need to do the things you want?"

Mr. Carr—"About $35,000. We ought not to pay five and ten cent store salaries to the supervisors of the playgrounds. Twelve dollars a week for them is too small. We ought to put new sanitary stations on the commons, and clean out that South common pond."

Mr. Kernan—"We have today, to last the remainder of the year, the sum of $6055.45."

Mr. Carr—"The College club and the Middlesex Women's club have collected money to support playgrounds. They ought not to do it. It makes paupers of the children. Why don't they collect for the Ayer home and St. Peter's orphanage? They came around to me last year to give something for the playgrounds. I wouldn't give a nickel. The city ought to pay all of the bills."

Mr. Cummings—"Why did you turn off one of your most efficient supervisors of playgrounds?"

Mr. Carr—"Who?"

Mr. Cummings—"Mr. Reynolds. He was one of your most efficient men."

Mr. Rountree—"That's what you think."

Mr. Cummings—"Lots of people who didn't like him didn't want to see him turned down. I keep faithful employees. I don't care what the consequences are."

Mr. Carr—"I agree with you. There are two or three men of the park department, working on Fort Hill, whom I do not like, but they are good workmen. I wanted to go before the municipal council a year ago and ask for more money, but those in power wouldn't let me. They said there should be no politics in the park board, but I notice that all of them have either been directly or indirectly interested in politics. As they get older they lose sight of that fact."

Mr. Cummings—"Just how much do you want?"

Mr. Carr—"I say $35,000."

Mr. Cummings—"Without any evasion I will say that the municipal council will never give it to you."

pretty good report, too. Mr. Carr asked Mr. Cummings what he thought of it, and Mr. Cummings said: "That is no more than you are expected to do."

Mr. Rountree: "We ought to ask for what we may reasonably expect to get."

Mr. Greene: "I do not believe in asking for a cent. For three years we have asked for money at the beginning of the year, and the council in its wisdom has seen fit to give us certain sums. I believe in running the department within these sums."

Mr. Rountree: "We've got about 300 trees in the city which are a menace to life, and they ought to come down."

Mr. Greene: "You could save wages enough on city hall employees to give us the best park system in this part of the country. If city hall was run on business principles, not political principles, we would have enough money."

Mr. Cummings said he would make a recommendation to the council that more money be given to the park commission.

The matter of determining authority in the matter of the moth department came up.

Mr. Greene: "Are you going to keep Mr. Gordon head of the moth department indefinitely?"

Mr. Cummings: "Yes. The legislature has passed a law which says that the council of cities shall elect the heads of moth departments in the future."

The matter of the woman clerk in the office of the park department was discussed, and it was the belief of the park board members that she received half of her pay from the park department, the other half from the moth appropriation, although records to this effect could not be found. Supt. Kernan said he did not wish to be held responsible for material in the park department burn in Lenox street, as there are a number of keys held by various persons. Mr. Cummings said he would look into the matter of the pay of a woman clerk for the office.

WANTS $20,000 FOR SO. COMMON

Park Commissioner Proposes Big Improvements There—Brother Members to Ask for $7000

Park Commissioner Carr declared today that he would appear at the next meeting of the municipal council and would ask for $20,000 for the construction of a sanitary station, new ponds, bandstand, fountains and permanent improvements on the South common.

Mr. Carr says that he will make the request as a citizen and not as a member of the park commission. Mr. Carr will have to put up a fire front for the $20,000, though Commissioner Cummings has agreed to submit the order. The other four members of the park commission will appear at the same meeting and will ask for $7000 for parks and commons.

Mr. Carr framed his loan order today. It reads in part as follows: "Order to borrow $20,000 and appropriate the same for the construction of a sanitary station, new ponds, bandstand, fountains, and permanent improvements on the South common."

Ordered by the municipal council of the city of Lowell, as follows:—That: First, to provide for the expense of said work, the city treasurer of the city of Lowell, subject to the approval of the commissioner of finance, he and he is hereby authorized and directed to borrow for and in behalf of the city of Lowell, from any bank, firm, corporation or individual, or from the commissioners of sinking funds of the city of Lowell, or from the treasurer of the commonwealth, the principal sum of $20,000.

Second:—That the said sum borrowed hereunder, with interest, shall be paid in ten equal annual payments, the first payment to be made in one year from the date of the security given, and the remaining payments to be made on the same day of the same month in each succeeding year, until the full amount of $20,000 with interest, is paid.

NOISE OF TEAMS CAUSED PAIN

WOMAN'S RHEUMATISM MADE HER CRY FROM PAIN—FINDS RELIEF IN VAR-NE-SIS.

"Suffering untold agonies so that even the noise of teams made me cry out from the pain as they passed the house, to be fed like a child and lifted on a sheet, was my condition when I commenced taking Var-ne-sis," said Mrs. Lizzie Northrop, who lives at 7 Peffer avenue, Lowell, Mass. "I guess if it had not been for this medicine I would be in the cemetery by now."

"Like everyone else I tried any and everything that was recommended; they all seemed to be sure they had a cure, but I got gradually worse as most of the medicine I took disturbed my stomach. I was about discouraged but hearing so much about this Var-ne-sis I decided to try it. I saw almost at once that it was different, pains were not so severe—the stiffness of my joints became less noticeable and I began to improve rapidly so that today I have not a pain or ache—I feel fine, thanks to Var-ne-sis."

"It is just such cases that have built up the reputation and sales of my remedy," said Mr. Varney. "It is simply that I have gotten out of the beaten path of the ordinary drugs so often given for stomach trouble and rheumatism. My remedy reaches the cause and goes to the root of the trouble, the stomach and liver; increases the power of the blood to throw off the disease. Get these organs in good condition and I repeat disease cannot exist. I am the only man in the country that has a collection of cures and cases obtained from cured patients by my remedy. I am the only man in the country to treat the stomach and liver to reach this dread disease, rheumatism. My success is far beyond my dreams and amply repaid by the fact that wherever I go people that I have never seen before come up to me and grasping my hand thank me for what my remedy has done for them. If there is a man or woman in this city suffering from stomach trouble or rheumatism I want them to get Var-ne-sis today and know what good health means or write for booklet to W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass. Dows, the druggist, is the local agent. Get it now."

Action looking to a possible strike, Mr. McEntee added would be withheld until after the approaching conference between the representatives of the unions and officials of the company.

ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH

To Have New Organ Specially Built by Melrose Firm—The Old Instrument for Sale

The organ which for the past 14 or 15 years has provided the music at the services in St. Michael's church is soon to be replaced by an organ of more modern structure, and operation which is at present being constructed at the plant of James Cole and company in Melrose. The old organ is offered for sale by the organ company, having been accepted in part payment for the new instrument.

The organ which at present is situated in the choir loft of the office in Centerville was obtained from the first Baptist church in Church street, this city, at the time of the dedication of St. Michael's. It had already been used a number of years and was in first class condition. During the past 14 years or more it has rendered excellent service at St. Michael's, and is still in good shape. It is operated by a water motor, contains two manuals and about 27 stops, two on the pedals.

An electric motor will furnish power for the new organ and in every other way it will be of the most up-to-date construction. It was some time ago that Rev. Father Shaw decided to purchase a new instrument and about three weeks ago the arrangements and preliminary steps had been completed and the building of the organ was begun at the Cole plant. The old organ will be removed during the latter part of August and it is the intention of those in charge to have the new one ready for operation about the first of September.

POLICE MOTOR SQUADRON

Will Make Its First Appearance on Sunday—No Definite Assignments Yet Made

The motor cycle squadron of the police department will make its first appearance next Sunday. No definite assignments have as yet been made by the mayor, but His Honor stated today that in all probability the men now patrolling the outskirts would ride the machines. This is taken for men that Messrs. McLean and Hamilton will be the motor cycle men.

WORDS FAIL ME

I don't know how to express myself properly to tell the people of Lowell how I feel over their magnificent vote of confidence on Saturday of last week and Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The end of the month with rent bills due, with a holiday Friday and in many cases Saturday, with many mills shut down from Thursday night to Monday morning, with a broken week and a broken pay envelope, you flocked into my store Saturday and Monday from all Lowell and nearby towns.

I knew I had the magnet in the form of phenomenal bargains---But what's that? A concern can have all the bargains in the land, but if the people don't believe it, they won't come in to see the bargains.

I never worry about selling a man if he calls to investigate. I have the goods at the price all the time to sell the average person, but when I take the notion to break prices, why I can sell the tightest pocketbook that the high cost of living ever produced.

Many of you need clothing---money must be an object with you if quality is convincingly present. You saw me advertise this special shipment of woollens in last week's Sun for $15.00 Suit to order. You see me advertising it now for $12.50 Suit to order. You broke all expectations last Saturday and Monday the way you came in and then bought. Break all records again this week. You deserve the bargains, the merchandise at the price deserves your trade and I deserve your business for daring to mark such quality within the reach of all.

LIVE MILITARY NEWS

Members of Co. G to be Inoculated

ANNUAL ENC. ME. TO BE HELD IN JULY AND AUGUST

Other Items of Interest From the "Castile"---Companies Will Hold Open Air Drills

Lieut. M. D. Bryant, M. C. M. V. M., is to be kept busy for some time, for at their last meeting the members of Co. G, M. V. M., of this city, unanimously voted that each member be inoculated with anti-typhoid toxin, which is a great preventive used in the United States army against typhoid fever.

This toxin it is said will make a man practically immune from typhoid fever for two or three years. The inoculating will be started some time next week and it will be some time before each member has received his share of the toxin. It is believed the other military companies will follow Company G in this respect.

Captains Peterson of Co. C, Jeyes of Co. G and Greig of Co. K, attended the officers' council in Boston Wednesday night. The council was held at the state armory in the Hub city and was presided over by Lieut. Col. Cook, who delivered important instructions to the officers.

The officers of the infantry and medical corps of the state militia will have their school at West Barnstable beginning June 13 to 22 inclusive. All the commissioned officers and the enlisted men taking the courses A and B, will have a service school on the same dates. Some of the company cooks will also be in attendance.

The annual encampment of the Massachusetts companies will be held from July 1 to Aug. 3 inclusive at West Barnstable. The exercises will be partly maneuvers and partly regimental.

Rifle Match Saturday
Saturday afternoon the four local companies will take part in the Parker and Butler rifle match at the rifle range in Dracut. The event promises to be very interesting for there is a hot contest for the cups offered in this match.

Capt. L. G. Henton, commissary officer for the Sixth regiment, will be in charge of the commissioned officers at the school this year.

Very soon the companies will perform their weekly drill in the open air, for three big arc lights were installed in the field adjoining the armory, which is state property. The lawn was mowed very close to the ground and the place is an ideal one for the purpose it will be adapted for.

Capt. Jeyes, armorer at the "Castile" realizing weather conditions in the summer time, decided to put the field in shape and have the lights installed so that the men can have their regular weekly drill in the open air which will mean a lot to them.

The athletic contest in the Lowell Armory Athletic association was completed some time ago, but the prizes have not as yet been awarded, and will not be until the fall, when jollifications will be held.

The non-commissioned officers of Co. G are organizing a party which will be held at Grange hall, Dracut Centre on Tuesday, June 13. The affair which promises to be a rare event in military circles is in charge of the following committee: Sergt. John Higgins, chairman; Sergeants William S. Miner, George D. Crowell, J. C. Barnes, E. A. Deslandes, Harry E. Jenkins, Corporals Chas. A. Finley, John J. Walsh, Phillipa H. Loupret, Charles Barton, Gust. Anderson, Ralph E. Bennett and Cook Frank St. Peter.

It is reported at the armory that a popular sergeant of Co. G is soon to become a victim of Cupid, whom they say has a great hold on him at present, the same not to be released until some charming young woman is made happy.

MGR. O'CALLAGHAN DEAD

Was Vicar General of Manchester Diocese

CONCORD, N. H., June 4.—Mgr. Eugene Michael O'Callaghan, vicar-general of the Roman Catholic diocese of Manchester, died in this city yesterday, at the age of 65 years.

Mgr. O'Callaghan was born in Kanturk, Ireland, Sept. 25, 1848, and was ordained to the priesthood for the diocese of Portland, Me., May 23, 1869. Six years later he came to New Hampshire and became vicar-general of the diocese of Manchester in 1902. On two occasions he has administered the affairs of the diocese, upon the deaths of Bishops Bradley and Delaney. He was one of the best known clergymen in New England.

SWEEPING INVESTIGATION

Senate Lobby Committee to Extend Work

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The senate "lobby" investigating committee decided last night to extend its present inquiry into a sweeping investigation of all organized efforts that have been made to influence action upon legislation of any kind now pending before congress, or under consideration in the recent past.

This action was determined upon at the end of the afternoon session, after several senators had added to the testimony already given tending to show that well organized and vigorous work is being done by commercial interests upon the sugar, wool and other tariff issues. The committee decided to subpoena practically all persons thus far mentioned by senators, as witnesses in their "tariff" hearings, and to learn the exact nature of all organized work that is being directed toward influencing any member of congress upon any subject.

The efforts of the committee will be centered first upon the sugar fight, next upon wool and after that a full investigation will be made that will take in the activities of prohibition and liquor "lobbyists," the Alaskan railway forces, labor unions, farmers' protective organizations and practically all other organized bodies that have carried on publicity campaigns, "endless chains" letter writing or other means of influencing members of the senate or house.

Smith and Williams testified during the afternoon's session. They produced new bundles of literature sent out by various organizations and individuals. The investigating committee finally decided that it would have to pass on this literature and determine whether it was "misleading" or would have "pernicious effect."

Members of the committee agreed that even though the raising of money for publicity campaigns might be legitimate, the issuing of false statements or misleading public documents would be an "insidious attempt to influence the public and members of congress." That detectives have been used in some cases to shadow members of congress in the interest of securing certain legislative action is a point which Senator Cummins will endeavor to establish. He asked Senator Smoot yesterday whether the latter knew of any such activity. Senator Smoot said he had "heard of it," but could give the committee no information. Senator Cummins declined to state what further witnesses would be produced or to indicate the nature of the detective work that has been done.

MISS SARAH E. SCALES

Teacher Was Laid at Rest Yesterday

The funeral of Miss Sarah E. Scales, a former school teacher of this city, took place yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended, for deceased had been on the teaching staff of the public schools of Lowell for the past 50 years, and many of her former pupils, young and old, attended the service in order to pay a last tribute to one whom they loved and respected.

The funeral service was conducted at the home of Dr. Downs, 14 Porter street, and later another service was held in the chapel of the Edison cemetery, Rev. Appleton Grannis, pastor of St. Anne's church, officiating.

The path from the chapel to the burying lot, over which the body was carried, was strewn with wild flowers, while the grave was covered with floral offerings, this being the work of the pupils and teachers of the West street school. The former pupils of deceased from the Cross street school were also present at the grave and deposited their floral tributes in the grave as the casket was lowered.

The bearers were Messrs. Harry H. Harris, John Barr, Albert Backeller and Arthur K. Whitcomb. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Herbert D. Bixby, under the direction of Undertaker John A. Weinbeck.

RETURN 20 INDICTMENTS

Grand Trunk Charged With Illegal Concessions

COLUMBUS, O., June 6.—The United States grand jury, which reported yesterday, returned 20 indictments against the Grand Trunk Western Railway Co., charging it with making illegal concessions in freight rates between Newark, Ohio, and Battle Creek, Mich.

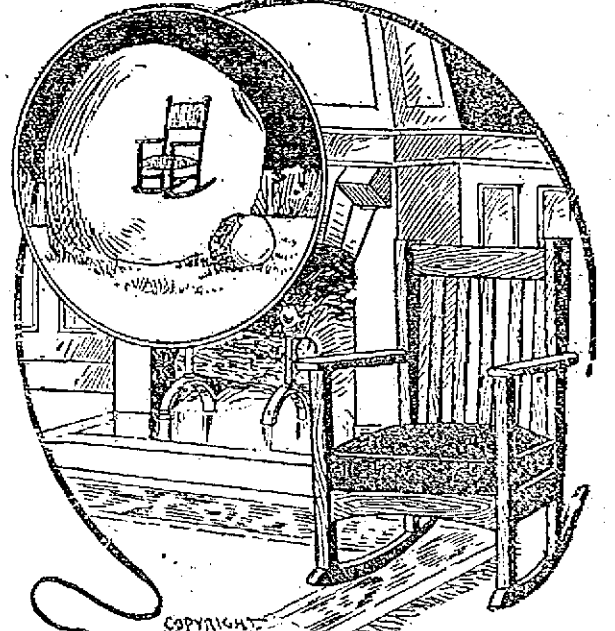

Under the federal laws, the company is liable to a minimum fine of $1000 for each alleged violation or $20,000 for all.

The case investigated by the grand jury involves the transportation of coal from mines in Belmont county to Battle Creek, Mich.

Resinol stops skin torments

THE soothing, healing medication in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap penetrates the tiny pores of the skin, clears them of impurities, and stops itching instantly. Resinol heals eczema, rashes, ringworm, and other eruptions, and removes disfiguring pimples and blackheads quickly and easily, even when other treatments have been useless.

Prescribed for 18 years

Resinol is not an experiment. It is a doctor's prescription which proved so successful for skin and scalp troubles that it has been used by other doctors all over the country for eighteen years. No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval.

Practically every druggist, large or small, sells Resinol Ointment (50c and $1) and Resinol Soap (25c), but you can test them at our expense if you prefer. Send to Dept. 20-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a liberal sample of each and the two new Resinol booklets.

Live Bits of Sport

Tomorrow's game at Lawrence will attract a great many local fans to the down river ball park. Manager Pieper is looking for a record breaking attendance and who wonders?

The Harvard crew is getting some hard work these days at their training quarters at Red Top, Conn. and Coach Wray is feeling more optimistic every day. His shakeup of last week seems to have put more snap into the "Varsity boat."

Anderson hit better yesterday than he has in any game thus far and we hope that the top of the ladder will prove an incentive to every player on the team to go into the ball hard. Lowell has lost several hard fought games on account of the needed hit being lacking at the psychological moment.

F. C. Thompson, a student at the Princeton Theological school, made a new world's record in the all around amateur championships held at Princeton yesterday, beating out the marks of both Martin Sheridan and Jim Thorpe. His running of the high hurdles in 15 seconds flat, was a remarkable performance when the fact is taken into consideration that he had already contested four spirited events.

Horace Fogel, former owner of the Philadelphia Nationals, arrived in the national capital yesterday, all primed and loaded for his new attack upon organized baseball. Fogel alleges in his declaration that "all organized baseball is a trust." Fogel's present crusade will probably terminate as quickly as the others he has started, or, rather, tried to start.

There have been several accidents during this season's baseball, one case of which happened to Shortstop Courtney of the Lawrence team. Courtney was given up for dead, but is now wearing a uniform. Gillespie, who played third base for Providence last year, was struck in the head while batting for the Chattanooga club against Birmingham, Tuesday. His skull is badly fractured and he is not expected to live.

A similar offence to that which Ty-mus Cobb committed last year and which led later to the first and last baseball strike on record is reported to have been committed at New Bedford last Monday. Sweatt, the Whaler's center fielder, did not relish some of the remarks cast at him by the bleacherites and dove into the stands without any preamble. He seized one fan by the scrum of the neck and, pulling him out of his seat on to the field, punched him several times before other members of the ball clubs and spectators pulled him away from the much surprised and beaten-up fan. Such actions as this ought to be severely censured by the league officials, if baseball is going to remain in the popular niche it now occupies.

The spectators take great pains to show their disapproval of an umpire in some of the American association etc. In Milwaukee last Saturday Umpire Johnston ordered an outfielder named Randall from the game and it so happened that this same player is the most popular ball player in the Milwaukee club. Loud voiced protests and tonic bottles were immediately in order with the result that the umpire had to have a surgeon take some half dozen stitches in his head from a cut inflicted with a broken bottle. Don't let this article put any bad ideas into your heads. Loys, when Umpire O'Brien afflicts Lowell with his presence!

Steve Kennedy of Lawrence certainly bore out his reputation of an erratic boxer when he shadowed Joe Egan of South Boston last night at the Unity club of Lawrence. It was generally conceded before the bout that Egan had it on the Lawrence boy as he had beaten him previously but Kennedy forced the fighting from the first tap of the going. The referee's decision of a draw was so generally disliked that the crowd tried to get into the ring to mob the decision-maker. The extra police protection was the only thing that saved him from a bad mauling. Any referee who is a party to a frame-up should be denied police protection. If this was the case there would not be so many unpopular decisions rendered among New England clubs.

BRAVES DEFEAT CUBS

Boston Team Won by Score of 8 to 4

Here allowed Chicago but six hits yesterday and the Boston Braves won their game 8 to 4. Here weakened in the ninth inning badly and Chicago scored all her runs in this session on five hits, an error and two passes. Boston hammered both Cheney and Humphries hard, thirteen hits being the total made by Stallings' men. Connelly, Sweeney and Hess all hit the ball when hits mean runs. The holding of Maraville and Connelly was the feature of the contest.

Red Sox Lost
Chicago, mainly through the brilliant pitching of Scott, defeated the Red Sox yesterday by the score of 5 to 6. Scott only allowed the Boston batters four scattered hits, two of which were scattered. Boston's three errors also contributed to Chicago's runs. Leonard accounted the mound for Boston and was touched up for 10 hits, four of which were doubles. Wagner did not play in yesterday's contest as he split his finger fielding a fast grounder while the world's champions were warming up before the game. Ball played his position and got two of Boston's four hits. A double steal by Rath and Lord, the former scoring on the play, was the feature of the game.

Big Tennis Match Today

NEW YORK, June 6.—At the West Side Tennis club, on the same stretch of turf around which crowds gathered last year, men to see the Americans defeat the English in the Davis cup preliminaries. American and Australian players contended today for the privilege of challenging England, holder of the Davis cup. Arrangements were made at the club to seat a gallery of 6000 spectators and indications were that a full gallery would witness the play each of the three days it will take.

Mrs. Wilson Gives Flowers to Sick

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Hundreds of sick rooms in the hospitals of the capital today are brightened with cut flowers and bouquets from the White House conservatories. Each gift bears the card of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. The distribution was made through the agency of the National Plant, Fruit and Flower guild and all of the hospitals were remembered.

To Establish Federal Park

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The establishment of a wide stretching park under federal control extending from Washington to Baltimore is to be pressed by leading citizens of the capital among them a present commissioner of the District of Columbia and his predecessor. The board of trade has appointed a committee which today will begin an investigation of the question. A general survey of the territory between the two cities will be made, options will be obtained and a general idea arrived at as to the cost of property by condemnation.

It happened this way: The tailors' strike caused a delay in manufacturing that resulted in wholesale cancellations of orders by retailers.

Result: Big stocks at the wrong end of the season (for the manufacturers), which must be forced out at liberal price concessions.

We got in on over 100 suits from Stein-Bloch, mostly small but choice lots—at 25 per cent. less than regular prices. All new lots, fresh from the tailors; in fact, many at this writing are not yet in the store.

In marking them at $17.50 we're making our usual profit, but the buyer gets unusual value.

They're mostly in young men's models and sizes—a few in larger and stout sizes—and in the season's choicest fabrics.

It's the first time this season we've offered a Stein-Bloch Suit under $20.

In connection with these Stein-Bloch Suits, we have revised downward to $17.50 many higher priced lines, to conform to the new standard of value we have set.

We advise prompt action by those interested.

Indianapolis Traffic Squad Received Instructions to Compel Women With Split Skirts to Wear Undergarments

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 6.—Women in Indianapolis, who wear the new style split skirt also must wear undergarments, and the traffic squad of the police force has been asked to enforce the order, which was given out by Superintendent of Police Martin J. Hyland yesterday.

The order was issued after a letterhead Indianapolis had received a Super-signed "The Ladies" and which read as follows:

"As we know you are the highest authority in the city, we, as the ladies, ask that you prohibit the wearing of split skirts without undergarments. We hope that you will take this seriously."

CARMEN WON VICTORY

9 in 11 Bill was Passed to
Third Reading

IN SENATE YESTERDAY BY VOTE
OF 25 TO 9

Bill Vigorously Opposed by Boston Elevated—Big Day For Governor—Three Voices Are Sustained

Street railway employees won a victory in the senate yesterday when the nine-hour bill was passed to a third reading by a vote of 25 to 9, every senator being present, and, with the exception of the president, voting upon the bill, which has been vigorously opposed by the Boston Elevated Railway company.

Both public galleries of the senate were crowded, and President Greenwood forbade any demonstration of applause or disapproval in the galleries, and said if persisted in they would be cleared.

Senator Horgan said that the Boston Elevated was trying to put the burden of this legislation on the carmen.

Senator Blanchard said this was not so, the Boston Elevated doesn't want this bill he had offered; it doesn't, in fact, want any bill.

Senator Horgan said he had no doubt the last remark was absolutely true.

The senator from Boston cited a case of a carman who worked 10 hours and 13 minutes in 24 hours, when, for public service employees eight hours is considered a sufficient strain and for public service corporations it was even more imperative that the same consideration should be given the employee. It is a question of right and wrong.

Recurring again to the question of constitutionality, Senator Blanchard asked Senator Horgan if he would refer that question to the attorney general. Senator Horgan said "emphatically, no." He would not refer a question of the constitutionality of this bill to any other than the supreme court.

"The legislature is now on the last legs of the session," said Senator Horgan, "the supreme court is not now in session, and will not be until fall; it would be impossible for this general court to obtain its opinion."

The motion of Senator Blanchard to substitute the nine hours in fourteen bill reported by the committee on street railways was rejected on a rising vote of 1 to 28.

The bill as it passed the house for nine hours in eleven was ordered to a third reading by a vote of 25 to 9, every senator entitled to vote being recorded, except the president. The vote was as follows:

In favor—Allen, Bagley, Hazoley, Bellamy, Brennan, Chase, Clark, Draper, Fay, Fisher, Fitzgerald, Gars, Halley, Hickey, Hilton, Horgan, Johnson, Joyce, Mack, McCarthy, McConaughy, McLean, Norwood, Quigley, Ross, Timilty, Wells, Wheeler, Williams—25.

Opposed—Blanchard, Coillidge, Fildridge, Gordon, Hersey, Hobbs, Montague, Stevens, Ward—9.

Big Day for Governor

It was a great day for Governor Foss yesterday. The senate sustained one of his vetoes and the house sustained two. The veto of the state house firemen's pay which bill the house had passed over the governor's objections was sustained by the senate. The bill to reimburse Arlington in $1300 for the care of state wards in a smallpox epidemic in which the town had to buy a dwelling house to isolate the patients was passed over the governor's objections in the senate while the house sustained his Excellency.

The house failed to give the necessary two-thirds vote to pass the teachers' tenure of office bill over Gov. Foss' veto and so the latter is sustained, although the majority was against the governor. This bill did not originate in the senate.

Speaker Cushing ruled against the admission of Gov. Foss' message recommending that the house consider again the amendment to the constitution of an income tax, and that Rep. Gordon's point of order that the house could not for a second time consider the same amendment was well taken. Accordingly the amendment proposed by the governor was laid aside.

An eight hour day for watchmen employed by the commonwealth was rejected by the house.

The house turned down the order of Rep. Haines of Medford for an investigation into the recent increase of passenger fares on the Boston & Maine railroad.

An order to investigate the strike at the Sturtevant Blower works and the Becker Milling Co., both Gov. Foss' properties was referred to the committee on rules yesterday.

The senate also yesterday without debate or division passed to be engrossed the Washburn railroad bill.

The bill to protect miners and regulate their employment was given a reading with the understanding that Senator Ross of New Bedford will, on the next stage, offer an amendment to strike out section 5 of the bill which prohibits the employment of a minor under 16 years for more than eight hours in a textile factory. Mr. Ross' contention is that this must lead to the eight hour day in textile factories, a thing which nobody wants and which would work a hardship in the families dependent on the mills for their living.

SLIDING SCALE

Plan to Tax Manufacturers of Tobacco as Recommended by Atty. General Reynolds

WASHINGTON, June 6.—At the White House today President Wilson was still considering Attorney General McKeen's plan to tax manufacturers of tobacco on a sliding scale and had come to no decision. The plan is to increase the rate of tax as the production goes over a certain mark with the view of curbing monopoly.

"When I invest in a wagon I buy a Studebaker, then it's a safe investment"

Of course it is! Studebaker wagons are built on honor, with sixty years of wagon-building experience—and with every wagon goes a Studebaker guarantee.

You can't afford to have a dealer sell you some other wagon represented to be "just as good."

If you want a wagon that will last, run easily and stand up to its work, there is only one wagon to buy—and that's a Studebaker.

Don't trade ten extra years of service for a few dollars difference in price.

Studebaker wagons are made to fit every requirement of business or pleasure, in city, town or country.

STRIKERS IN AGAIN AND OUT AGAIN

Ipswich Workers Who Reported for Work Yesterday Failed to Show Up Today

IPSWICH, June 6.—Six hundred strikers who yesterday reported for work at the Ipswich hosiery mills after six weeks' absence failed to report today as the result, it is said, of the influence of Joseph Schiller, an organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, who came here last night and addressed meetings of Greek and Polish operatives.

One hundred Greeks and 500 Poles are said to have indicated their intention of standing by the Industrial Workers in the fight for a 20 per cent increase in wages. The plant was in operation with about 500 hands.

Announcement was made by the management this morning that hereafter no help would be taken on without application first being made at the office. Heretofore strikers have been permitted to return with the approval of the foreman. The new move is looked upon by the strikers as an attempt on the part of the mill owners to keep out members of the Industrial Workers.

Schiller, promised the strikers last night that Joseph J. Ettor and Arturo Giovannitti, leaders of the Lawrence strike, would be here within a day or two to assume charge of the local situation.

LOWELL COUNCIL, ROYAL ARCANUM

Heard Rep. Walsh's Report of Supreme Council Session

GEORGE T. McELROY
Regent Lowell Council

At a well attended meeting of Lowell Council, No. 8, held last night in Odd Fellows temple considerable routine business was transacted and one candidate was initiated into the mysteries of the order. Some of the members reported many prospective candidates and it is expected that their names will be brought up at the next meeting.

Under the good of the order a very interesting talk was given by Past Grand Regent A. G. Walsh, now supreme representative, concerning the défilé at the supreme council meeting held in Quebec. He also gave an outline on the early history of the city of Quebec and his talk was very much enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served and cigars were passed by the orator. The meeting broke up at a late hour all thoroughly pleased with the results.

The officers of the council are: Regent, George McElroy; vice regent, Edward J. White; past regent, John S. Jackson; orator, George H. Gurney; chaplain, Albert McElroy; guide, Louis Fielding; warden, Frank Stanley; sentry, Nels Nelson; secretary, Linson H. Devor; treasurer, George King; collector, Frank C. Gimian.

Elgin Lodge, N. E. O. P., Receives Flag
At the regular meeting of Elgin lodge, No. 168, N. E. O. P., held in Veritas hall last night a large silk flag was presented to the order by Mrs. Dora A. Chase. Many members and friends were present to take part in the exercises accompanying the presentation of the flag.

The grand vice warden of the grand lodge of Massachusetts, Brother Asa Smith, made the presentation speech on behalf of Mrs. Chase, extending the greetings of the grand lodge. He said in his presentation speech that the month of June, with its beautiful green foliage, seemed the best fitted for an affair of this kind. He hoped that every lodge within his jurisdiction would observe this night by the presentation of a suitable flag by some member or members of the lodge. He also suggested that the flag of Elgin lodge be displayed in the hall at every meeting night.

The United States flag is the best and third oldest in the world. It is symbolical of the New England Order of Protection, in that it gives protection to all citizens and home owners of the United States. Brother Smith then presented the flag accompanied by "The Star Spangled Banner" played on the piano by Sister Anna Herd. In addition to the presentation of the flag the following program was carried out: Piano solo, Sister Anna Herd; reading, V. W. Fred Timmons; remarks, Sister Claire V. Williams of Crystal lodge, No. 6, of Haverhill; remarks, Deputy Grand Warden Percy W. Valentine.

During the evening the members were served with confections, after which a vote of thanks was extended to Sister Chase and Brother Smith.

Eagles' Field Day

The Eagles of the state will hold their annual field day next week. Some idea of the size and calibre of the Lowell Aerie can be gained when it is said that in all the eagles and events of that day Lowell Eagles have entered in every one of them. Each individual and team is working as they never worked before to bring victory to the Lowell nest. In fact the same spirit appears to animate the Athletic section of the order as that which is guiding that progressive part of it, which says "We will be second to no Aerie in size, or importance in the state. In maintaining this spirit, there has been already upwards of one hundred applications for membership since the charter has been reopened with every prospect of the number reaching two hundred on class day, Sunday, June 23. Something hitherto undreamed of.

HEAR 24 MORE SENATORS

Senate Lobby Investigation Continues

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Although 24 senators were yet to be heard when the senate lobby investigation got under way today, Acting Chairman Reed was of the opinion that the investigators would be able to turn the light upon some of the so-called lobbyists tonight. With the recent of the lobby already strong, Senator Reed was convinced that the committee is on the right trail at last and that from some of the scores of men who have been summoned it will be able to extract information confirming President Wilson's lobby statement.

Senator Reed announced he would ask the senate for an indefinite extension of time for the holding of the hearings. Objection by Senator Jones yesterday prevented the consideration of a similar request but the Missouri senator expected to obtain approval today.

FEDERAL INQUIRY INTO CONDITIONS IN WEST VIRGINIA SOFT COAL FIELDS

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Preparations were made by the special committee appointed to investigate the conditions in the soft coal fields of West Virginia to go to Charleston on June 10 to take testimony. The committee, of which Senator Claude A. Swanson of Virginia is chairman, will conduct a searching inquiry into the Paine Creek strike. The inquiry is important from a national viewpoint because it is one of the few times the federal government has gone into a purely state problem as regards mining conditions. General C. C. Watts, a West Virginia coal operator, warned the special committee that it might be dangerous to go to Charleston. "There is a question in my mind and in the minds of others," he declared, "whether by going to West Virginia to hold your meetings you will not precipitate more trouble. I read in the papers reports of a conspiracy to kill Governor Hatfield. We do not know what prompted this movement against the governor. It may have been instigated by the proposed senatorial inquiry, and it is certain that a visit of this committee to Charleston will fill our public squares with agitators and fan the flame of public sentiment to white heat. There are about 60,000 miners in the state. More than 100 of them will testify. There may be a fresh outbreak, and the strike may spread. The stories in the papers about the conspiracy to kill Governor Hatfield speak for themselves. "There is a feeling in West Virginia and here," said Colonel Z. T. Vinson of Charleston, also a coal mine operator, who came with General Watts, "that the United States government is going to our state, in the persons of you gentlemen to paralyze the arm of the governor. That sentiment is spreading among the miners. "There is no excuse for such an idea," said Senator Borah. "All that this committee can do is to ascertain the facts and report them to the senate. An investigation helped Idaho and one should help West Virginia." "We are simply going to investigate the rumors as to alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law and interference with United States mail," added Chairman Swanson.

"DR." MUNYON SAYS MARRIAGE IS FAILURE; PRETTY YOUNG WIFE SUED

MRS. PAULINE L. N. MUNYON

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—James M. Munyon, the patent medicine man, known the country over as "Dr. Munyon," says marriage is a failure. He has gone into court for a remedy for his domestic troubles. Suit was filed for divorce by Munyon against his wife, Mrs. Pauline Louise Neff Munyon, who was famed as a beauty when on the stage. Mrs. Munyon had been married before, when she was sixteen years old, and had been divorced when she was married to Munyon in 1908. Munyon was about sixty and his bride twenty-four years old. Mrs. Munyon sued for divorce, charging cruelty and barbarous treatment, in June, 1909. Five months later a reconciliation was effected.

Fourteen Weavers Left Their Work at Union Webbing Co.—Owner Threatens to Remove Machinery

Not being satisfied with the new wage scale going into effect next Monday at the plant of the Union Webbing Co., 257 Thorndike street, fourteen weavers from the said plant left their work yesterday and declared a strike. The weavers have been getting 75 cents a gross, running one loom. Yesterday a notice to the effect that a cut in their wages would go into effect on Monday next was posted in the mill. The reduction announced being from 75 to 50 cents a gross, and a weaver ran two looms.

J. Townsend Walker, of Providence, manager of the plant, said that the weavers plant stated yesterday if his men do not return to work soon, he will remove his machinery to Providence. He said the weavers were making $30 and $21 per week, and the firm felt it did not get enough profit to warrant it doing business. With the new wage scale said Mr. Walker the men will increase my production, work a little harder and still make $18 to $20 a week.

INDUCED CRIMINALS TO BURGLARIZE STRIKERS AND POLICE IN BATTLE

Scathing Arraignment of the N. Y. In Stettin, Germany, as Sequel to Detective Bureau Contained in Killing of Striker by a Non-Current Committee Report Striker—Many Wounded

NEW YORK, June 6.—Scathing arraignment of the New York police department detective bureau and the city Commissioner Dougherty, in charge of the detective bureau, have been contained in the third section of the current committee report on the conditions submitted to the board of aldermen today. A brick bat over the report's adoption was expected.

Benjamin Levy, says the report, who had never been convicted of a crime, testified that in this case Department detective bureau and the city Commissioner Dougherty, in charge of the detective bureau, have been contained in the third section of the current committee report on the conditions submitted to the board of aldermen today. A brick bat over the report's adoption was expected.

STETTIN, Germany, June 6.—A pitched battle between police and strikers in which many are reported to have been severely wounded was fought last night in the suburb of Frauendorf as the sequel to the killing of a striker by a non-striker.

The workers in a chicory factory struck work some time ago and last evening one of them attacked a man who had continued at work. In the fight that ensued the worker was killed. His comrades later gathered in front of the factory and demanded that the non-striker be handed over to them. The demand being refused the strikers threatened to set the factory on fire.

The local police were unable to cope with the mob and reinforcements were called for from Stettin. Shortly afterward a body of 300 armed policemen arrived in automobiles from headquarters in Stettin and a pitched battle between them and the strikers occurred, during which the police freely used their sabres and revolvers. The strikers replied with pistol shots but they were soon overcome by the disciplined force and were finally dispersed, leaving many of their number wounded on the ground.

MASON SAFETY TREAD CO.

Protests Award Made by
Ald. Cummings

The following correspondence relative to the award of work by the buildings department on engine house No. 1, is self explanatory:

Lowell, Mass., June 5, 1913.

Mr. Lawrence Cummings,
Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—We respectfully protest award of work for engine house No. 1, under the contract of the Lowell Safety Tread Co., for certain floors and wainscoting as per specifications, on the following grounds:—That the Cresolite company has not performed work of this character; consequently there cannot be an award for material or workmanship which has not been properly tested and therefore is not "equal" to Karbolith.

Very truly yours,
American Mason Safety Tread Co.,
Lowell, Mass.

Mr. Cummings' reply was as follows:

Lowell, June 6, 1913.
Mr. Henry C. King, Pres. American Mason Safety Tread Co.
Dear Sir:—Your valued letter of June 5 at hand and contents noted. In the offer of the public buildings department we requested, as you say, "Karbolith or equal." We approached the competition; that you wish to set up, to wit: "That nothing can equal Karbolith."

The Cresolite company has already been awarded the contract, it being the lowest bidder. It is up to that company to conform to and abide with the specifications, it is not our duty to suffer the penalty of the bond to be filed by it.

Yours respectfully,
Lawrence Cummings,
Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses, Lowell, Mass.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. James V. Tully and Miss Helen Gertrude Wholey was solemnized at the rectory of St. Columba's church Wednesday at five o'clock by Rev. John Deegan. The groom was attended by his nephew, Mr. James Conroy and the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary C. Wholey. After the ceremony a reception which was attended only by the immediate relatives was held at the home of the bride's mother, 49 White street. After a brief honeymoon spent in Philadelphia the young couple will be at home to their friends at 20 Second avenue.

KEEFE FORD

Mr. Timothy Keefe of this city and Miss Catherine Ford of Boston were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the Cathedral rectory of Boston by Rev. Fr. Hickey. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Ford, and the best man was Mr. Charles E. Reilly. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the groom's brother in Somerville after which the happy couple left on an extended tour including New York and other places of interest. The groom presented the best man with an amethyst ring, while the bride gave her maid a handsome watch. Mr. and Mrs. Keefe will make their home in Concord, N. H. where Mr. Keefe is employed by the B. & M. R. R.

SHANAHAN O'CONNELL.
A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon when Mr. Walter Shanahan and Miss Agnes O'Connell were united in marriage at North Chelmsford. They were attended by Mr. John O'Connell and Miss Teresa Shanahan, brother and sister of the bride and groom, respectively. The bride was becomingly dressed in white silk crepe, trimmed with duchess lace and pearls. Miss Beatrice Ambrose, niece of the groom, acted as her flower girl. She was also dressed in

$35,000 STOLEN FROM COUNTY JAIL

Big Shortage Found on Books of Fred E. Smith, Bookkeeper, Who Died Last March

BOSTON, June 6.—A shortage of more than $35,000 has been found in the accounts of the manufacturing department of the Middlesex county house of correction at Cambridge. Conflicting stories of graft in connection with officials of the institution have already resulted in the starting of an investigation by District Attorney John J. Higgins.

While a major portion of the peculations are laid at the door of the late bookkeeper, Fred E. Smith, who died mysteriously on March 1 on the eve of an expert examination of the books, other money cannot be accounted for. The district attorney means to sift the matter to the bottom and he insists that if he gathers the slightest evidence he will lay the matter before the grand jury.

The shortage comes in the department over which Sheriff John R. Fairbairn has charge, but started before he took charge of the jail and no accusation has been directed toward him by the Middlesex county commissioners. His surety bonds are said to cover the amount of the shortage.

Proceed Civilly

In a remarkable statement to a reporter last night Sheriff Fairbairn said: "I think it is the duty of the county authorities to proceed against me civilly for the amount of money that has been taken by Fred E. Smith since I became the bonded head of this institution."

The sensational news came late last night. The shortage had been kept a secret ever since April 28, when Sheriff John R. Fairbairn notified the Middlesex county commissioners of the deficit.

Already the American Audit company of Boston and New York have overhauled the books and the examination is said to show that Smith began his manipulations on the books as far back as 1905, although it was not until 1899 that the shortage began to grow to large figures.

Started Controversy

The amazing fact that in all those years the shortage was not discovered by the prison commissioners and comptroller of county accounts who, by law, are forced to examine the books yearly, has started a controversy among the various branches of the service and laid the present system of bookkeeping open as absolutely useless and inadequate.

"If I had the money I would cheerfully lay it down tomorrow in settlement of this Smith defalcation. I had never suspected Smith or anybody," said Sheriff Fairbairn. "It might have gone on indefinitely had not Smith voluntarily retired and died, and had I not called in the examiners to look over the accounts and make a clean sheet for his successor."

"I do not wish to criticize the state nor the county. I continued the system as it was when I came into office. It was a composite system as to the auditing."

Did Not Check

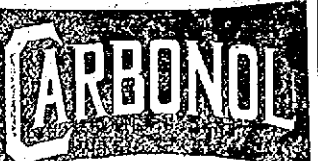

"One great trouble was that when the auditors examined the books once a year they evidently did not check up the books of the superintendent of industries, Charles P. Kenney, with those of the bookkeeper, Fred E. Smith. Had they done so, the irregularities would have been noticed years ago."

"I am not taking refuge behind this excuse or any other. I could have had a private annual auditing, I suppose, by asking for it and paying for it myself. But the law says the affairs of the jail shall be audited every year. The auditors came and went on schedule. I assisted them as they requested assistance. I did not presume to ask questions of them."

"Fred E. Smith practically handled all of the jail's money. If a check arrived for industrial output Superintendent C. P. Kenney received it, endorsed the check and sent it to Smith, who had been the custom to do (if, although I always thought the check should bear the signature of the responsible head of the whole plant)."

"It is apparent that Smith cashed these checks at banks. I had never heard, as has been today intimated, that he cashed any at the National City Bank of Cambridge. He may have done so. We find that whenever deposits were made the slips accompanying the deposits were in the handwriting of Fred E. Smith."

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Teachers Show That Pay is Decreased

Most of the teachers in the United States have in effect had their salaries reduced since 1907. Despite an apparent increase in money received, the high cost of living has cut into their salaries just as definitely as if a school board had sliced them. A teaching position which paid $500 salary in 1907 is paying in purchasing power the equivalent of about $416 today, if measured by 1907 prices; the teacher on the $1000 salary gets no more for his money today than he would have procured 15 years ago for $593. This is what the high cost of living has done to teachers and others on a fixed salary schedule, according to a report on teachers' salaries and cost of living distributed by the United States bureau of education.

Dr. Robert C. Brooks, executive secretary for the N. E. A. committee, which prepared the report, shows by bureau of labor figures that wholesale prices in 1911 were 44.1 per cent higher than in 1907; that retail prices had increased 50.2 per cent in the same period; while in June, 1912, retail food prices were 51.7 per cent higher than in 1906. With these figures as a basis he analyzes teachers' salaries in five

We've Been Watching the Clothes Worn On Broadway

NOW we're ready to show the newest suits that well-dressed New Yorkers are wearing.

The most popular model, especially with the young man and man who feels young, is the semi-Norfolk. The front has all the ear marks of a stylish sack suit. The back appears as a comfortably cut Norfolk. It has natural shoulders, a close clinging collar with shaped lapels; the sleeves taper to the cuffs; patch pockets. The Norfolk back has three pleats, with inverted pleats over the shoulder blades, giving ease and comfort to the wearer. The trousers are cut straight and rather high, with cuff bottoms. The whole effect is strikingly stylish. Words cannot begin to picture its charm.

These are cut from a lot of exceptionally high-class homespun and cassimere fabrics and semi-tropical worsteds in browns, greys and olive hues and in quiet checks that we have just secured fresh from the looms at bargain prices. That's why we can show you these wonderful garments at $10 and $15 cities in different parts of the United States and demonstrates the plight of the teachers in the problem of increased cost of living.

For those of more conservative tastes we are showing a variety of handsome worsteds, homespuns, tweeds and serviceable serges. These are cut with broader shoulders and along more conservative lines.

According to the Brooks report, teachers do not receive enough salary, even in the cities, to save money to carry adequate life insurance, or to proceed with further professional training. Out of the 1600 teachers investigated, only 13 were found who possessed property over $15,000, and practically every one of these 13 owed their good fortune to sources other than their salaries of teachers. Nearly all of the men teachers carried life insurance, but few of them to a sufficient amount. Only four out of 13 married teachers would, if they were to die now, leave in insurance or any other property as much as ten times their annual salary—the lowest sum that might be expected to provide for the family.

How the high cost of living affects particularly the teacher who seeks to marry and have a home is strikingly demonstrated. In Denver, a city of relatively high salaries, 14 married women with no others dependent upon them had an average salary of $1212 to meet their own needs exclusively; 16 unmarried women with others dependent upon them had an average salary of $501 to spend on each adult person in the family including themselves; but the married men teachers had an average from salary of only $413 for the equivalent of each adult person including themselves.

Teachers spend more than workingmen for some things, though their pay is about the same. Rent and clothing are bigger items in the teacher's budget than in the laborer's, indicating more exacting community demands. Teachers also spend relatively more than workingmen for life insurance, religious purposes, charity, amusement, vacations, and care of health. They spend less for children's clothing—having fewer children. Not all of them economize in this way, however. "I believe," writes a Denver principal, "that teachers should attend concerts and good plays and take trips. So does my wife, but my salary necessitates a choice between these things and raising a family. We chose the latter."

Many other significant side lights on the high cost of living, particularly as it affects teachers, are brought out in the report on "Teachers' Salaries and Cost of Living." The commissioner of education at Washington has a limited number of copies of the report for free distribution.

MAY BE DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Handbag and Hat Found on Steamship

BOSTON, June 6.—The Boston police are working on the theory that behind the discovery of a woman's handbag and a man's straw hat in the stateroom of a Portland bound steamer Wednesday night, following the report of a man seen leaping into the water, may be a murder and suicide.

The mystery was brought into Portland yesterday by the steamer Ransom B. Fuller. Her officers reported that early Wednesday night the passengers reported seeing a man leap from the vessel. In stateroom No. 50 was found a handbag in which was a card bearing the name of Mrs. Austin S. Temple, 19 Gaylord street, Dorchester, and a man's new straw hat.

Police investigation last evening elicited the information that a Mrs.

Temple resided at the address given with her sister, Mrs. Edna M. Fleming. She is 64 years of age and a widow, her husband having died a short time ago. The couple had been married 15 years and Mr. Temple was 10 years younger than his wife.

Mrs. Fleming notified the police that her sister, Mrs. Temple, had left the house Wednesday, saying she was going to purchase a dress. She was clad in a mourning gown. Mrs. Fleming was about to notify the police of the sister's disappearance when the information of the finding of the handbag was communicated to her.

Mrs. Fleming believes that her sister wandered to the boat and took her own life during the night.

Thus far the clues furnished point to suicide, but the police are still at work trying to locate the owner of the man's hat found in the abandoned stateroom. Nothing on the ship's register discloses the identity of any male person in connection with the stateroom.

The affair occurred shortly after the steamer had passed out of Boston harbor and while off Bakers' Island. A passenger reported to the officers of the boat that he had seen a man climb over the railing and leap into the sea. There was a general cry of "Man overboard." Passengers and crew rushed to the point of the boat where the person was seen to jump.

SCHOOL SANITATION

It is a serious state of affairs that confronts the people of Lowell in regard to the dry closets in eleven of the schools. Of course having horns the evil so long, it may be assumed that we can stand it in whole or in part a year longer, rather than put the city to the verge of bankruptcy by borrowing the money necessary to effect the change to a safe, sanitary and modern system. It was to be expected that sooner or later the existing system through the "dry closets" would cause an outbreak of disease. There is pretty conclusive proof that this is what happened at the Billings Street school. The same may or may not occur at some other school having a similar system. This principle of sending out from the chimney of a school the smoke rising from the contents of "dry closets" is one that should be commended by sanitary authorities, and certainly not by the residents in the vicinity of the school. As to the effect of the dry closet system on the health of the pupils, opinions may vary but there is good ground for believing that it is positively injurious.

Now the question arises, what will the city government do about the matter? First, an expert investigation should be made and then the system should be changed as soon as convenient beginning at the Billings Street school. It will be an expensive job but this is one of the cases in which the present generation will have to pay for the mistakes of the past, just as posterity may have to pay dearly for some of our mistakes. To the ordinary individual it would seem that the only satisfactory climatic condition of a school is by means of water flushes. Whether the system that obtains in the Billings Street school is sanitary or not is certainly open to question but there can be no doubt that it is not modern in these days when so many schools are in vogue and when school-rooms are looked upon as so many experimental centres, the health and comfort of pupils should be most carefully guarded.

The Fuller-Warren system of heating and ventilation won a great victory over rival systems in securing the contract for the Lowell schools. The Smith-Smedley system, radically different was a formidable rival. The committee on lands and buildings, however, after very prayerful consideration aided and abetted by the agents of the company, decided in favor of the Fuller system dry closets and all. The people of that day thought that the very best system in existence was secured and the delusion has rested firmly in the public mind ever since. This is but one of many instances in which the people have been fooled.

THE NEW NAVY

If no obstruction arises to prevent Secretary Daniels from carrying out his plans for the development of the navy, there can be no doubt that the lot of the enlisted man will be vastly improved in the near future. Unfortunately for the navy, and indirectly for the country, conditions on board ship in the past were not as glittering as they were represented on the government bulletins of the navy department, and the disillusion of those who expected things to be as they were described, resulted in an amazing number of desertions and consequent demoralization. No sooner did the present secretary take office than he made plans to vary the monotony of work by long-distance trips, and his latest plans promise still further improvements over the old system.

Secretary Daniels believes that the ever-increasing proficiency of modern machinery calls for a like degree of efficiency in the men. "There is no place in the navy for a standpater," he says. "Every good officer must be a progressive." To bring this efficiency about he thinks that both officers and men should be encouraged to develop initiative as well as to follow regulations. In his own words, "You can never get the best out of any man who feels that his only duty is to obey orders and who does not feel that individual initiative will meet with encouragement."

He thinks that the greatest need of the service is for some system of education and instruction which would benefit the young men who enlist. This has been neglected in the past with the result that the ordinary seaman does not perform their duties as well as they would, were some system of instruction in vogue. Secretary Daniels declares: "My ambition is to make the navy a great university with college extension, high school extension, and primary extension all on board ship. An American battleship represents everything in life. There is no place where a young man can learn so much."

POLICE NURSES

A few nights ago a Lowell citizen who suffered from erysipelas became very violent from the effects of the disease. So dangerous did he become that his family sought the protection of the police, and some officers were dispatched to the house. They restrained the sufferer, and put on the straps that are used in cases of extreme violence. Fearing a second attack the officers remained at the side of the sick man to protect him from doing injury to himself or his family. He could not be taken to the station, and he should not if he could; he would not be received at the local hospitals in his dangerous condition, and the police were obliged to remain by his bed in the character of nurses until morning because, because—note it well—we have no contagious hospital.

CHILD LABOR BILL

The Massachusetts child labor committee which has been successful in getting a very satisfactory child labor bill through the house and before the senate, has used some very convincing arguments in support of the measure, chief of which is the fact that the bill introduces little that is new into state legislation, but is complete, and comprehensive enough to ensure the enforcement of all previous regulations with regard to child labor—many of which were disregarded on technical grounds. For instance, one of its sections adds to the existing laws governing child labor in mercantile establishments, some branches of industry that have heretofore escaped this classification, although rightfully belonging there. Seven states now have enforced all the regulations in the proposed law, and ten states are striving for its enactment at the present time. It aims at making the laws of all states in this respect uniform—a condition much to be desired. The only new provision of importance—and the one most bitterly opposed—is the establishment of an eight-hour day for children under sixteen. Many adults already have it including such trades as carpentry, plumbing, paper hanging, stone-cutting, etc. Thirteen states give children under sixteen the same privilege. It is opposed here mainly by the textile interests, but it is found practicable in New York and Ohio. Surely what has been found advisable for many adults is necessary for children. The bill deserves the same success in the senate which it enjoyed in the house.

SCHOOL "LUNCHEONS"

The municipal council has voted to request the school board to investigate the subject of "school lunches" and to report back to the municipal board in order that that body may determine whether an appropriation may be necessary for the purpose. In view of the fact that several of the schools have been found to be in a very unsanitary condition, it would appear that something more serious than luncheons for school children should occupy the attention of the school board for some time and possibly also the attention of the municipal board. We are inclined to believe that the school board will not waste much time investigating the matter thus submitted for its consideration. There is no actual necessity at present for any extraordinary action in this direction. The only case in which a lunch counter might be necessary is in connection with the high school, where the pupils are not allowed to leave the class rooms at dinner hour. Some cities in such cases do provide a lunch counter where children can get what they want at cost. This, however, does not seem to be the idea entertained by the commissioner who has brought the matter to public attention. But as it has been introduced only for advertising purposes it is useless to discuss the matter seriously.

THE DERBY INCIDENT

The foolish woman who rushed before the king's horse at the Derby showed more originality than some of her fanatical sisters, but not a whit more sense. If she sought personal advertising she surely got it, but had she climbed the tower of London, set herself on fire, and jumped into the Thames, or gone a thousand feet into the air over Windsor castle in a balloon and jumped without a parachute, the effect would have been the same. What the connection is between such such as hers and the cause of woman suffrage we fail to see, but evidently much of the militant suffragette energy runs to sensationalism. It is doubtful if the spectators who witnessed the brave attempt of the Derby suffragette to be a martyr, are more disposed now to favor the extension of the ballot to women than formerly. History may call her a martyr, or a heroine. Her sisters will probably call her a "hero." The general public of both England and America are liable to call her a lunatic.

FUN OF FORGIVING

Sometimes I'm almost glad to hear when I get home that they've been bad. And though I try to look severe, within my heart I'm really glad. When mother sadly tells me the list of all the things they've done, because when they come tearfully, forgiving them is so much fun.

I like to have them all alone, with no one near them, and then I tell them, "You are all little faults they own, I like to take them on my knee. And talk it over and pretend the whipping soon must be begun. And then to have them at the end—forgiving them is so much fun."

Within the world there's no such charm as children's penitence and away your temper starts to run. Who put two soft and chubby arms around your neck when they've been bad. And as you view their trembling lips, And from your mind all anger slurs—forgiving them is so much fun.

If there were nothing to forgive, I wonder if we'd love them so. If they were wise enough to live as grownups do, and ever so. Along the pleasant path of right, with never a fault from sun to sun. A lot of boys we'd miss at night—forgiving them is so much fun.

There is an internal combustion engine being demonstrated in this city with arms successfully on any or all of four pistons in addition to rotating, and the atoms burned material twice or three times. It is not cooled either by air or water, and is said to run even if jacketed with asbestos to keep the heat in. It has no fans, pump, or radiator; its piston has no rings; it uses no carburetor, and it maintains high compression with heavy fuels at all the highest speeds. Says the New York Times:

"This strange new entrant in the motor engine field, which is the invention of P. G. Timmer, ran on crude oil, kerosene, fuel oil, and a sort of asphaltic fuel produced in large quantities by gas works and now treated as a waste product and used for road sprinkling. It also operated on various mixtures of these fuels, starting cold on a crude oil rather rich in gasoline, and on the mixed fuels after they had already passed through the engine and been burned. The funny substance used was said to be about twenty degrees lower on the Beaume scale than any on which the Diesel engine had been able to operate."

The engine, which demonstrated these odd capabilities was an old gasoline engine of single cylinder, having a bore of 3 1/2 inches and a stroke of 4 1/2 inches. It had neither water jacket, nor air cooling device. The ignition was by means of high tension spark plugs and the fuel feed direct. There was no carburetor, the vaporizing fuel taking place within the heated chamber of the cylinder. A piston such as that in the engine was with a cupped head and without any of the usual piston rings. It was not tapered, but fashioned to a fit of about one-half thousandth of an inch along its whole length.

An English social worker says that one-third of the girls in the dressmaking and millinery trades in her country receive no pay at all. They are classed as apprentices, but they do a great part of the work. The women who buy hats and dresses should refuse to pay for unpaid or underpaid labor. It is no such thing as accepting a donation.

"The Old Man" in a one minute sermon in the Manchester Union has the following to say of a peculiar type of company when he likens unto a class well known to Dickens: Mrs. Gummidge was of a type well known to Dickens, and by no means wholly extinct in our day. She was wont to think of herself and to describe herself as a "lonely creature," with whom "everything" went contrary. Almost everyone knows at least one Mrs. Gummidge, or Mr. Gummidge, for the habit of thinking one's self peculiarly unfortunate is not a matter of sex. A queer thing about the Gummidges is that while they are sincere in believing themselves exceptionally unfortunate, they do not expect others to believe it, and try to excuse their excess of woe on the ground of super-sensitiveness. "I feel it worse than others," the original Mrs. Gummidge used to assert, and she repeated the assertion so often that she came to believe that, too. There are many Gummidges yet in the world, and very miserable they are. Observation and common sense teach them that their troubles are but the common lot of humanity, but they cherish the conviction that a peculiarity in their constitution causes such exquisite suffering as others know nothing of. In different phrase, it may be, but with the same taught, they repeat with Mrs. Gummidge, "I feel it more than others," while on the same street, in the same home, maybe, a woman is enduring in silence the agony of a disease that is eating her life away, or a man is going and coming and doing good work day after day, who rarely or never knows what it is to be free from pain. They are depressing people, the Gummidges, to those who have burdens of their own, and who has not? Yet there is hope for them. They may some day be aroused from their egotism and selfish misery by a strong impulse to help where there is pressing need. Mrs. Gummidge was a different woman when trouble came to Emily.

The law under which Supervisor Brown is proceeding is entitled "An act to regulate the business of making small loans," and it went into effect July 12, 1911. His term of office is for three years, but it will pay to keep him permanently, regardless of his political dissimilarity. He is the right man for the place.

FOXES $30,000 PER PAIR

Animals Worth Their Weight in Gold

BREEDING FARM TO BE ESTABLISHED IN BILLERICA SOON

Company Has Been Formed and Incorporated—Remarkable History of the Industry

There is to be established in the vicinity of Lowell an industry that has won a reputation for elevating men of no more than ordinary financial status, who have been its promoters to the class of millionaires in a comparatively short space of time. This wealth producing industry is, in a few words, the breeding of silver-black foxes and a ranch for this purpose is soon to be established in Billerica. This enterprise has already opened a field of business that, according to experts, gives promise of becoming one of the most lucrative on the North American continent.

Mr. Lemuel C. Woodbury, who at present owns and conducts such a ranch in Whitefield, N. H., with remarkable success, is prominently instrumental in the establishing of a like field near Lowell, his wife's experience in the industry and knowledge of the care of the foxes being regarded as perhaps the most valuable asset of the company as it is. The president of the company is Mr. L. A. Wheeler and Mr. Oliver Stevens of this city is vice president. Treasurer, Henry A. Savage; secretary, E. T. Wheeler; directors, above named, with L. C. Woodbury. It will be known as the Imperial Fur and Breeding company. All have been interested in the project for some time and have examined Mr. Woodbury's farm with reference to building up a similar business. They succeeded in interesting Mr. Woodbury, who will act as general manager, director and overseer of the Billerica fox ranch. A short time ago the company was incorporated and already there has been a demand for stock.

As has been set forth in a short press from some time ago, the site chosen for the industry is the Wayside farm in Billerica on the Woburn electric line. The place comprises about 40 acres, a good part of which is woodland. Mr. Woodbury after an examination of the premises declared it to be the best possible location for the raising of the silver-black fox that could possibly be found in this part of the country. An added reason for locating in Billerica was the fact that it is known that red foxes are very numerous in that district, a proof that it is a good country for the successful raising of foxes.

At present, Mr. Woodbury is planning the arrangement of the pens which are to be constructed upon the land procured for the purpose. It is necessary to have everything as near like the natural element and home of the animal as possible, and to this end the trees will be in a great measure left standing and the pens built among them. The pens consist of a cement wall going deep into the ground so as to prevent the animals from digging their way out, and a wire netting above. A high fence of part cement will be constructed all about the grounds, and between this and the pens there will be a runway so that if a fox should manage to get out of the pen he will be confronted with the difficulty of getting out of the runway, which will be practically impossible according to the plans. Mr. Woodbury is elated over the prospects which the general topography of the section chosen affords for successful business.

It might be well to state here that these foxes will be raised to be sold for breeding purposes, for in this way the greatest financial returns are accumulated. The animals sold in this manner are worth from $50,000 to $100,000 per pair while the skin of one black silver fox has been known to sell for $3000. There is a very great demand for them by men who are willing and even eager to pay the price.

The local company has contracted for five pairs to come from the Woodbury ranch in New Hampshire, and with these the industry will start, in all probability being inaugurated this coming fall. A perfect skin is jet black with the exception of silver touches about the back, rump and the tip of the tail. The gray begins half way between the root and the tip of the hair. They are a beautiful animal and their fur is of the finest quality, as may be readily seen from the enormous price which a single pelt brings. The silver-black fox is, moreover, the only valuable fur bearing animal which can be raised in captivity, and this adds greatly to the prospects of the enterprise for a brilliant future.

The originator of the business is said to be Hon. Charles Dalton, who, realizing the prospects, started a fox farm in Prince Edward Island some years ago. Since that time there have been up to the present about 60 such companies formed at that place. With the exception of these, there are few in existence. Boston men have formed companies for the purpose of breeding the foxes but in nearly every case they have taken the industry to France or to England. In a short time Dalton became enormously wealthy out of the business, and the others have done likewise.

There are from two to eight whelps in a litter and great care is required for the preservation of the little foxes. For this reason Mr. Woodbury's past experience will be the principal assurance of the success of this particular enterprise. His success with his own farm in the White Mountains has been remarkable and he feels confident that the same will characterize the local project.

This is an absolute novelty for this district, and people are beginning to evince great interest in the plan and to study the result of other similar enterprises. The work on the pens and fences is going ahead rapidly and they will be ready early in the fall for their silken-tailed occupants, who are actually worth their weight in gold.

AUTO CRASHED INTO POLE

Boys Hurlled Out and Badly Injured

FITCHBURG, June 6.—Edward Welch, 18 years of age, of Congress street, this city, was seriously injured and a companion, whom he was teaching to run an automobile, was severely hurt when their machine, alleged to have been speeding at 40 miles an hour, on a sharp turn on the Lunenburg road, grazed another automobile and crashed into a telephone pole.

The pole was broken off six feet from the ground and the automobile cut in half to its centre by the impact. The accident happened late yesterday afternoon. Welch received a concussion of the brain when he was hurled to the ground. His companion, a boy of the same age, named James Corley, was badly cut and bruised. Both, it is believed, will recover.

The two young men had been to Lunenburg in the machine, which is the property of Welch's father. They were bound toward Fitchburg. The highway is a state road. On the border of Fitchburg is a bad curve in the road. It was on this curve that Welch met and nearly ran down an automobile in which was riding George Lewis, proprietor of the Lewis garage, this city. Their machines grazed, and this, it is believed, so scared Welch that he lost control of his car.

The automobile shot to the right. In an instant it had struck squarely in the middle of a telephone pole by the roadside. The crash brought out residents from near by houses.

38 PICKETS CONVICTED

Of Unlawful Assemblage at Paterson

PATERSON, N. J., June 6.—Thirty-eight silk workers who as pickets gathered in front of a mill during strike disturbances on April 25, were convicted of unlawful assemblage last night by a county court jury.

The defendants, one of them a 11-year-old girl, face a prison sentence of from one to three years, or a fine of any amount up to $500, or may be imprisoned and fined. Many of the prisoners are members of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Judge Klenert, in charging the jury, directed that the question of picketing be not considered, but that the jury decide whether the defendants disobeyed police orders to move and whether the law was violated when the men gathered near the mill doors.

Hannah Silverman, the girl prisoner, was described by the prosecution as a leader. Yesterday while attending the arraignment of a striker arrested the night before, she disturbed the court, and was given a 20-day sentence.

William D. Haywood and other Industrial Workers of the World leaders will be tried Monday by a "foreign jury" drawn from talesmen impeached from another county.

Strikers yesterday appointed a committee of 15 to confer with manufacturers today with a view to arranging hearings at which it is hoped to reach a basis of settlement of the strike, now closing its 13th week.

MOTORCYCLIST KILLED

Rider Was Leaving Track at Detroit

DETROIT, Mich., June 6.—Edward Holleybee of Flint, Mich., was killed at the motorcycling speedway here yesterday while practicing on a motorcycle. He was learning the track in preparation for racing when he lost control of the machine. Going at full speed, he shot up to the top of the track, struck the guard rail and dropped several feet to the bottom with the motorcycle on top of him.

WILSON LOCKED OUT

Made Fifth Visit to Halls of Congress

SESSION HAD ADJOURNED AND PRESIDENT SURPRISED OFFICER

Appeared Late Yesterday With Biggest List of Diplomatic Selections He Has Made Since Taking Office

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Wilson appeared unexpectedly at the president's room at the capitol late yesterday with the biggest list of diplomatic selections he has made since he took office.

It was the president's fifth visit to the halls of congress but this time he found the door of the "marble room" locked, the senate had adjourned and the sergeant-at-arms was taken by surprise.

"I guess I'll have to get a duplicate key for this door," said the president smilingly as the sergeant-at-arms hastily despatched a messenger for the key. Hardly any senators were in the building, but Secretary Tumulty soon sent out a call for about 20 of them and they came in quickly from the senate office building.

While the president has not definitely fixed on some of the countries to which he will make diplomatic appointments he has chosen the men who will get the posts and about these consulted republican as well as democratic senators from home states.

The individuals about whom the president talked and some of the countries followed:

Thomas Nelson Page of Virginia, to be ambassador to Italy.

Justice W. Gerard, New York, to be ambassador to Spain when the bill making Madrid an embassy instead of a legation is passed, probably within a few weeks.

Col. Thomas H. Birch, New Jersey, to be minister to Persia.

Charles W. McAlpin, secretary of Princeton university, to be minister to The Netherlands.

Joseph E. Willard, Virginia, to be minister to Belgium.

Major E. J. Hale, North Carolina, to be minister to Costa Rica.

P. A. Stovall, Georgia, to be minister to Switzerland.

Former Gov. Benton McMillin, Tennessee, to be minister to Peru.

Dr. J. L. Jefferson, Colorado, to be minister to a South American country, probably Argentine Republic.

Henry Morgenthau, New York, to be minister, probably Turkey.

Albert Schmedemann, Wisconsin, to be minister to Norway.

Friedrich C. Beckel, Pennsylvania, probably ambassador to Austria.

When the president got through talking to the senators he met the newspapermen in the corridor and explained that his visit had been chiefly about diplomatic appointments and that no official list would be made public until word was received from the various foreign governments as to the acceptability of the individuals selected.

Senators James and Stone talked tariff and inquired about the proposed amendment concerning the tobacco industry but learned that the president had not given full consideration to it at yet.

The president left the capitol as inconspicuously as he came. The attendants held an elevator for him but the president thanked them and declined.

"I guess I'm a good democrat and can walk down," he said with a laugh.

ANTI-TRUST AMENDMENT

An Additional Tax on Tobacco Proposed

WASHINGTON, June 5.—In accord with suggestions of Attorney General McReynolds, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, introduced yesterday an anti-trust amendment to the Underwood tariff bill, which would levy a special additional excise tax on a sliding or graduated scale upon manufacturers of tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and snuff. The amendment, coming from a democratic member, will receive thorough consideration from the finance committee.

The progressive excise tax proposed would not reach a manufacturer until he controlled about 25 per cent. of the total production of the articles. Over that amount he would be taxed in a rising scale on tobacco one cent a pound for the first million pounds and so on up to six cents a pound. This graduated tax would be in addition to the regular eight cents a pound tax that all manufacturers pay on tobacco. The same is true of the progressive tax on cigars, cigarettes and snuff.

Companies of ordinary size would not be subject to this tax because it does not apply to a production below eighty million pounds of tobacco or four million pounds of snuff a year, so that of the 2700 tobacco companies in the country probably only 73 would be affected and of the 73 snuff companies also only three would be taxed. In the matter of cigars the tax would fall on only two or at most three companies out of 418 and of the 26,000 cigar companies only two have a product large enough to be taxed.

Seventy million dollars was the amount of the total excise last year on tobacco products and Senator Hitchcock has estimated that if the proposed tax had been levied on last year's business the "foreign trust concerns" would have paid the additional tax as follows: American Tobacco company, $7,500,000; Liggett & McCarty, $3,100,000; Lorillard company, $14,100,000; American Snuff company, $77,000; George W. Helms company, $69,000; Weyman & Burton company, $51,000.

"It is probable," said Senator Hitchcock today, "that this tax in the aggregate would reach $15,000,000 a year, which is so large that it would soon force a real dissolution of the tobacco trust. If it did not it would yield a handsome revenue to the treasury and so handicap the trust that it could not carry out its program of crushing independent companies."

Senator Borah has introduced an amendment to the tariff bill which would bar from entry all goods manufactured wholly or in part by children under 14 years of age or children under 16 years of age who are required to work more than eight hours a day or more than 48 hours a week. It would also bar all imports made wholly or in part by convict labor.

SUIT AGAINST SHOE CO.

Competitors Testify for Government

BOSTON, June 6.—Nothing but the blue sky, was the description Sidney W. Winslow, president of the United Shoe Machinery company, gave of what was in store for Frank W. Merrick and Clarence S. Luitweiler after they refused to sell out to him, according to the testimony yesterday of Mr. Luitweiler in the government's dissolution proceedings against the United company.

Mr. Luitweiler is treasurer and Mr. Merrick, president of the United Shoe company of East Boston, which is manufacturing stitching machines in competition with the United Shoe Machinery company.

Both testified that they met Mr. Winslow at a Boston hotel in 1905 and were told by him after they had refused to sell: "I'll see that you will never make a dollar."

Merrick testified that he regarded it as a business bluff, a threat given to affect his decision on the proposition of selling out to Mr. Winslow. He said that he had enough to get along on, Winslow, according to the witness, said he would make Merrick's machines.

"You know what happened to Parsons of Marlboro, don't you?" asked Winslow, according to Merrick's testimony. "Well, we tried to buy him out, but he refused and we made his machines and put them out at a less price than he could build them."

Luitweiler testified that Mr. Winslow then walked over to the window and, looking out, said to the man and his companion:

"Do you see what you have before you? Nothing but the blue sky. This is like a game of roulette. Your proposition will stop before me some day."

When he was asked in cross examination by Charles F. Choate, counsel for the defense, if he had any feeling in the matter, Merrick replied: "Possibly. There are a few things that stick in my memory as they would in yours. Mr. Choate, if someone had throttled you."

Merrick testified that he had had difficulty in getting his machines installed in factories and specified the factory of the Excelsior Shoe company of Portland, Me., on objection by Mr. Choate, witness was not permitted to tell why.

William S. Gregg, special assistant to the United States attorney general, said he wanted to show that the reason was a demand for a payment of about $7000 made by the United company for additional royalties and installation charges when it became known that the stitching machines of the witness were going to be installed side by side with the United machines.

The court refused to allow the testimony on that point to go in except through the testimony of the owners of the factory.

46 Cold Spring St., Woonsocket, R. I.—"My face broke out with pimples which looked like little sores from scratching all the time. It itched so much that it was hard to keep my hands from my face. After a while my face grew worse and it was always itching. My scalp itched and burned greatly. My hair fell out by the comb and was lifeless. My head was full of dandruff and when I combed my hair I had to put a piece of cloth on my shoulders to keep it from getting on my clothes. It could be seen plainly in my hair."

"I tried many remedies that people told me about such as— but they did me little or no good. It was about a year and a half that my face was that way when I got a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. About three days after using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was greatly relieved and at the end of two months and a half I was completely cured of both troubles. BIG LIBRARY VOTING CONTEST

Creates Intense Interest—Beautiful Books on Display at Macartney's Clothing Store

The announcement of the great library contest in recent issues of The Sun has excited no end of enthusiastic comment among its thousands of regular readers. Already hundreds are making beaten paths for the handsome window display of books at Macartney's Clothing Store. All seem to realize that in these fine books a value is placed at the option of the public which can hardly be measured by dollars. These fine books are not only priceless in value but are also clothed in the physical raiment of the efforts of these immortal writers, and when we stop and consider that all this wealth of information and entertainment is now accessible to the schools, clubs, societies, lodges, etc., of Lowell without cost it is only natural to expect this word of popular approval.

The voting began in all the stores Wednesday and it is safe to say that a large number of our best and most popular institutions and organizations are enrolled as contenders for the awards.

This contest is now a matter of absorbing interest in several of our sister cities of Massachusetts and has been conducted to a most satisfactory and successful conclusion in cities like Brockton, New Bedford and Fitchburg. Lowell is not going to prove an exception to the rule unless it be by an exceptional interest shown.

The many merchants who have interested themselves in the affair are deserving of every praise for their progressive attitude for they have bought and paid for the fine books as well as paid the promoter, Mr. A. O. Johnson, of 22 Union Square, New York City, to conduct the contest to its conclusion.

The plan is conducted along purely scientific lines by a concern that has devoted twelve years to this special line of work and this alone assures everyone of an accurate and impartial result. All votes are counted by experts in New York City before they are permitted to enter the returns published. Therefore it is only essential for the interested public to lend their energies toward mustering their forces together and putting up the best possible contest for sole honors. Get committees appointed to assume charge of the various avenues for obtaining votes, such as The Sun coupon, the bread labels, the laundry slips, the cigar bands, cigarette boxes, the merchant role, etc. These committees are absolutely essential to the best results and when appointed will feel their responsibility and devote their spare time towards advancing the cause they are identified with.

The Sun coupon proposition is announced on page 1 and readers should begin at once to avail themselves of the magnificent source of votes and when you know this feature is operating with assurance in your home and among your immediate friends, turn your attention to every other source of votes and one by one establish the same efficiency, particularly that of the retail merchants in order that your functions as a voter may be real and genuine and not one who is voting here and lapsing there.

Watch The Sun every day for news of the contest. It will always be more or less advisory and should be read by all interested. For any information always address:

LIVE NEWS FROM CHELMSFORD CENTRE

Annual Children's Night Held at Grange Meeting—Old Soldiers Going to Gettysburg

The annual children's night at the Chelmsford grange was held last evening at the Old Fellows hall, a very large number of guests were present, besides the children. At six o'clock a bountiful spread was given, consisting of sandwiches, cocoa and a variety of cakes. About seventy boys and girls were seated at the tables and still more arrived for the entertainment which started at eight o'clock. The entertainment consisted of many enjoyable acts, given by children only.

The program was as follows: Piano solo, by Miss Grace Dupey of Lowell; sketch, "The Doctor's Visit," given by Gertrude Brown, Marion Brennan, William Berg and Andrew Sheehan, consisting of one act; piano duet by Mildred and Bernice Leland, which was endorsed; recitation by Hattie Blaisdell, entitled "Hercules' Struggle," song by Ida Palgoun; recitation by Kenneth Ryan and Ruth Holder; concert solo by William Berg, accompanied by his brother Ralph, on the piano; reading by Marion Brennan; trio by the Misses Grace Dupey, Christina Ohlson and Beatrice Qua, all of Lowell; song by Mildred Vickery; dialogue, "The Stick Dolly," by Ida Palgoun and Kenneth Ryan; piano solo by Miss Fannie Blaisdell; recitation by Miss Grace Palgoun. The supper was in charge of Mrs. John Parker, Mrs. Holder, Mrs. Fadden, Mrs. Walter Vickery, Mrs. Dupey and Mrs. E. D. Harris.

After the entertainment the regular meeting of the grange was held.

Horse Bally Gored

On Wednesday afternoon an exceedingly large bull owned by Mr. Greenberg on Billerica street, while being led along the highway, sprang at the horse owned by Mr. Anton Hedstrom of Billerica street and succeeded in injuring the horse to such an extent that Mr. Greenberg felt obliged to purchase it. The bull is a very ugly one and always showed its dislike for horses, the horse which was wounded was deeply gored in the breast and is now under the care of Dr. Harris.

Mr. Harold Corson of South street has ordered a new twin "Excelsior" motorcycle. The machine is to have a side car.

A. Heady Park, the last elected selectman has purchased a Cadillac touring car of last year's design. His son Quincy will operate the machine.

The topic of the town at present is that of the grand reunion of the old soldiers who fought in the Battle of Gettysburg. Several of the remaining Civil war soldiers who fought in that battle will join those who are going to the old battlefield in Gettysburg, soon. Principal Fisher of the Industrial school visited the Chelmsford high school today and gave a talk upon the work of the Industrial school.

THE POLO DEFENDERS

Foxhall Keene is New Captain

NEW YORK, June 6.—Foxhall Keene, captain of the new polo team which will defend the international cup against the English challengers at Meadowbrook beginning June 10, was a member of the first American international team, which was defeated by the quartet of Englishmen in 1888 at Newport, when the trophy went to the Hurlingham club, where it resided through the result of victories by England in 1900 and 1902. Keene was considered without a peer in the fitness of the game at that time. In all of his work this spring when lined up against the "big four" he has been the one man to anticipate plays by the opposition. While not as powerful in his strokes as during the earlier period of his polo career, he always proved a bothersome individual when he was on the ball. The only exception ever taken to his play has been that it savored too much of individualism, although he is not accused of being what is termed a "selfish" player.

Captain Foxhall Keene

Night Operator Gracia, the young man who so efficiently has looked after the business of the Western Telephone Co. for the night "trick" during the past two years, has been promoted to the Boston office of that company, where he will assume a responsible position.

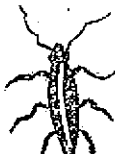

The young people of the First Trinitarian church last evening repeated their performance of "The Deacon's Second Wife," the cast being the same as on the occasion of the former presentation, and all of the parts were interpreted. During the evening ice-cream, candy and lemonade were served and also strawberries and cake. All of the tables were very well patronized.

The members of the Burke Temperance Institute held a regular meeting in their rooms last evening and a committee reported arrangements complete for the joint outing with the Y. M. C. E. at which there will be a good list of sporting events. In the membership contest, Groves was the winner, defeating Dean by an admission. The camp on Lake Umbagog will be opened soon with a smoke talk and entertainment.

A man who calls himself A. He said he has traveled a distance of 514,420 miles since 1883, and all he has spent for car fares is $7.61. He is the author of several books. He is one of the itinerant parasites who live by working the agencies of publicity en route.

The monthly meeting of the Council of the Lowell guild was held on Tuesday at the Guild house on Dutton street, with the president, Mrs. H. D. Pickering, in the chair. The superintendent, Mrs. Moore, gave her report for May and showed a record of 250 milk station calls and 1,101 district nurse calls making a total of 3,151 calls. As this was the last regular meeting of the council until September, arrangements were made for the opening of the sub-milk station and for the caring of sick babies during the hot months.

REJOINDER OF JAPAN

Reiterates That Spirit of Treaty is Violated

TOKIO, June 6.—The rejoinder of Japan to the United States note on the subject of the California land ownership legislation reiterates that the land bill passed by the California legislature violates the spirit of the Japanese American treaty by discriminating against a friendly power. It points out that even if the question is an economic one it enters the domain of international relations and therefore becomes political.

The note says that the California legislature violates article one of the Japanese American treaty of 1911 which authorizes subjects or citizens of the contracting parties to own or lease houses, which are inseparable parts of real estate.

It also declares that the new bill violates the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution requiring the states to grant equal protection under its laws to all persons within its jurisdiction.

Interest in the controversy continues to be the paramount topic of conversation among all classes in Japan. Several mass meetings of protest are being arranged.

KILLED HIS BABY AND RELATIVES

Man Kills 3, Wounds Three and Attempts Suicide—Captured and Revived

CANTON, O., June 6.—Enraged, he said, because he came home and found his wife missing, Robert Roach, 29, a laborer, last night went to the home of his wife's parents and shot and killed his mother-in-law, sister-in-law and 16 months old baby and fatally wounded another sister-in-law. Later, when his arrest was attempted he shot a member of the Canton police force in the leg and hit another man in the hand.

The dead:

Mrs. Thelma Schatzman, 61; Ruth Schatzman, 15; Foris Roach, 16 months.

The wounded:

Viola Schatzman, 17, who is expected to die.

W. W. Fielding, desk sergeant of the Canton police force.

"Happy Meyers," a drayman.

After the shooting, Roach took refuge in an upstairs room and attempted to asphyxiate himself. He was captured and revived and confessed to the shooting.

and other property of the W. L. McManus Lumber Co. here. The loss is estimated at $200,000 with no insurance.

The Good Old

Teachers' Bill Carried Over Veto

VETO OF GOV. FOSS MAY BE OVERRIDDEN

House Passes the Teachers' Bill
Over Veto and Senate May Do Likewise

Today the house of representatives reconsidered its action of yesterday by which it failed to pass the teachers' tenure of office bill over the governor's veto.

On vote the measure was carried over the veto 130 to 53.

Rep. Butler of Lowell was a factor in this action.

The bill will come up in the senate on Monday and will probably be passed over the veto there also as this is Senator Fisher's measure, and he is very successful in swaying the other members of the senate to his views.

THE POLLARD SCHOOL

Of Billerica Held Closing Exercises

The graduation exercises of the Pollard grammar school of Billerica were held this afternoon in the town hall. The weather was excellent and a large number of friends of the class were on hand. The graduating class which consisted of 54 pupils formed in the rear of the hall at 2 o'clock and marched to the stage to music furnished by Hibbard's orchestra. The girls were dressed in white, and the boys in dark suits and they made a very pretty appearance as they proceeded down the aisle to the stage.

Mary Elizabeth Larratt was the honor student and second honor was won by Agnes Lyons. The program, which consisted of readings and songs, was very well received and the graduates were given much praise for their fine work. Miss Ella Reilly had charge of the chorus singing. The program was as follows:

Prayer, Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge; second honor, address of welcome, Agnes Lyons; chorus, "Who is Sylvia," school; recitation, "Columbia's Banner," Esther Emery Cole; recitation, "Trying to Lick the Teacher," Austin Kearney; chorus, "Sunset," school; first honor, "The Value of a Smile," Mary Elizabeth Larratt; recitation, "Jane's Graduation," Carl Lutender; selection, orchestra; recitation, "The Day of Judgment," Arlette Marie Corkum; recitation, "A Liberal Education," Elmer Fred Hatch; chorus, "The Summer Night," school; presentation of diplomas, Dr. Maurice A. Buck; march, selected, orchestra. Following is a list of the graduates: Mary Harrietta Barril, Gladys Barrington, Alice Bicknell, Mariem Gertrude Biggerstaff, Esther Emery Cole, Percy Collinge, Nora Helena Condon, Arlette Marie Corkum, Harold Corliss, Philip F. Dolan, George Allison Dole, Winifred Fisk, Michael Francis Cannon, Gladys Higgins, Arvilla May Jackson, Helen Jones, Austin Kearney, Mary Elizabeth Larratt, Carl Lutender, Agnes Lyons, Mary McCullough, Raymond Morley, Charles O'Brien, John O'Brien, Joseph O'Brien, Gladys Rutledge, Chas. DYNAMITE CASE NOW WITH JURY

Cases of Wood, Atteaux and Collins
Given to Jury at 12.50 O'Clock—
Judge's Charge

BOSTON, June 6.—The cases of the alleged dynamite "planting" conspirators, William M. Wood, Frederick H. Atteaux and Dennis E. Collins, were given to the jury today. Judge John C. Crosby instructed the jurors to return a verdict on each of the six counts of the indictments but to find the defendants not guilty on the sixth count, which charges conspiracy to injure certain buildings and other property in the city of Lawrence. The other counts specifically different and distinct offenses, but all have a bearing on the broad accusation that the defendants conspired to injure the cause of the textile strikers by "planting" dynamite on their premises. The opening of court was delayed for an hour and a half while one of the jurors, Morris Shuman, was being examined by the district attorney, Joseph Pelletier and counsel for the defense. No explanation of the delay was made when the jurors took their places in the box. Shuman was with the others. A rumor that a mistrial might result was dispelled when the court came in and immediately began the charge to the jury.

In opening the court said that no evidence had been introduced that would substantiate the charge contained in the sixth count. Taking up the other counts, one by one, the court explained their meaning. The first count charges conspiracy to injure the textile strikers, the second, conspiracy to injure unknown persons, the third and fourth, conspiracy to injure Joseph Assal and Urbano De Pratto, respectively, by plotting to them the illegal storing of dynamite in premises occupied by them, the fifth, conspiracy to falsely charge unknown persons with illegal storing and keeping of dynamite.

The first and second counts, he said, were substantially the same. After reading legal definitions of conspiracy to injure any person or persons either as to reputation, character, standing in society or in any other manner constituted a criminal conspiracy.

"If the jury should find that no conspiracy existed, that ends the case," he said, "and the defendants must be acquitted; but if the existence of a conspiracy is established then all facts and declarations of each of the defendants may be considered as evidence against the other defendants."

"The jury must consider whether the acts, conduct and statements of each of the alleged conspirators standing alone satisfies them that a conspiracy was entered into, in which case the defendants are to be considered conspirators. But if, on the other hand, the acts, conduct and statements of each defendant standing alone do not indicate that an illegal agreement was entered into then you must find them not guilty. Each defendant must be shown from his own conduct and statements to have been in agreement with the co-conspirators before you can find that a conspiracy has been formed."

The court instructed the jury to determine first whether there was any conspiracy.

"Take each separate act of each defendant admissible only against himself; does that point to you such a picture as convinces you of the fact of conspiracy? The evidence of one conspirator cannot be competent against another conspirator after the object of the illegal agreement has been accomplished."

"If you find that any of the defendants did not take part in the alleged conspiracy you must acquit him. Passive acquiescence or silent knowledge of a conspiracy is insufficient to convict."

The court defined "reasonable doubt" and then referred to the failure of Wood to offer a defense. This fact, Judge Crosby said, should have no influence on the minds of the jury. The defendant exercised his right and no inference, either hostile or favorable should be drawn from his attitude.

Referred to Testimony.

Judge Crosby referred to the testimony of Collins, who turned state's evidence, that he helped John J. Breen, the confessed "planter" in "planting" the dynamite, but did so in ignorance of the nature of the material he was handling.

"If you believe that he was without guilty knowledge of the dynamite, you should acquit him," said the judge, "but if you find he had guilty knowledge, then you must convict."

The court spoke of the alleged contradictory statements of Breen and said that it was a matter for the jury to consider but only as bearing on the credibility, reliability and weight of his statements as a witness. He spoke of Breen's conviction in the Essex county court and explained to the jurors that it was an established rule of law that a witness' credibility was affected by his conviction for a similar offense.

Given to Jury

The jury retired at 12.50 o'clock.

Before beginning their deliberations the jurors had luncheon and it was well into the afternoon before they assembled in the juryroom.

LOWELL WON FROM LAWRENCE

Leadership, at least for a time, in the New England was the prize put up for the winner of today's game between Lowell and Lawrence, the former since yesterday being on top with a very slight margin over the downriver folks. Confident that they would witness a battle royal between the old rivals, about 3000 eager fans hied themselves to Spaulding park and made their presence known by generous cheering and magnanimous distribution of the "right" baseball dope. In the congregation were numerous Lawrence followers filled with a desire to see their diamond representatives back in first place.

Maybom and Daly were selected to do battery work for the home team. On the mound for the visitors was Martin and Galvin was behind the bat receiving the benders which he served up. The official of the day was Hanson of the stenographic voice. The lineup:

Lowell
Clemens cf
DeGroff rf
Miller 2b
Maggie lf
Halstein 1b
Daly c
Dee 3b
Anderson ss
Maybom p

First Inning

The game opened with a strike by Maybom the victim being Carlstrom. Clemens was passed. Bruggy hit to Dee who threw to Miller. O'Connell out and Miller completed the double to Halstein. Bruggy out.

Clemens fled out to Mahoney and DeGroff walked. Miller doubled to left sending DeGroff to third. Maggie's hit to short left with the infield playing close, scored both men. Maggie tried to steal and was out, Galvin to Courtney. Halstein hit safely to

Second Inning

Luyster hit over the first base line and Maggie made a beautiful stop but failed to recover the ball in time to get the runner. Mahoney fanned. Luyster ran to second and was safe when Miller dropped Daly's throw. Phoenix walked and he and Luyster worked a double steal. On the throw to second Luyster came home, Courtney fled out to DeGroff and Galvin was out by Miller to Halstein.

Dee fled to O'Connell and Anderson to Courtney. Maybom fanned. Score—Lawrence 1, Lowell 2.

Third Inning

Martin drove a liner which rested in Maybom's glove. Carlstrom was out. Maybom hit Halstein, and O'Connell fled to Clemens.

Clemens fled to Courtney and DeGroff was retired by Martin to Carlstrom. Miller hit through Mahoney and Nager closed by going out, Mahoney to Carlstrom.

Score—Lawrence 1, Lowell 2.

Fourth Inning

Bruggy was passed and Luyster hit to Maybom, who threw Bruggy out to Anderson. Mahoney drove one along the third base line and there was a discussion as to whether the ball was fair or foul. The umpire allowed the hit, which placed Luyster on third and Mahoney on second. Phoenix hit a slow one to Dee and Luyster came home while Dee was throwing Phoenix out to Halstein. Courtney doubled to left field, scoring Mahoney, and Galvin was put away by Maybom to Halstein.

Halstein was out. Courtney to Carlstrom. Daly singled to left and was forced out by Courtney to Phoenix when Dee hit to Courtney. Dee was out, Galvin to Courtney, attempting to steal.

Score—Lawrence 3, Lowell 2.

Fifth Inning

Martin fled to DeGroff, Carlstrom

EDITOR OF I. W. W. PAPER SENTENCED

To From One to Fifteen Years and to Pay $250 Fine for Inciting Hostility to Government

PATERSON, N. J., June 6.—Albert Scott, editor of the Weekly Issue, a paper that has been supporting the cause of the silk mill strikers, was sentenced today to serve an indeterminate prison term of not less than a year or more than 15 years and to pay a fine of $250 for inciting hostility against the government. Scott announced that he would appeal and arrangements were made for his release on bail.

Sentencing of 33 men and women convicted yesterday of unlawful assemblage was deferred today. Threats of a renewal of active picketing about the mills as a protest against the convictions were not fulfilled.

One of the 33 is Hannah Silverman, the 17 year old strike leader who was to head the march of mill workers tomorrow from Paterson to New York to participate in the Industrial Workers of the World pageant in Madison square garden. Although the girl obtained her freedom on bail on the unlawful assemblage charge she may be kept in jail tomorrow under a 20 day sentence imposed yesterday because she persisted in laughing at the proceedings in court.

SUFFRAGETTES ARRESTED

Interrupted Peace Conference in London

LONDON, June 6.—Militant suffragettes today almost succeeded in interrupting the deliberations of the peace conference between the delegates of the Balkan allies and Turkey by organizing a demonstration outside St. James' palace during the session. The Women's Freedom league called a meeting to protest against the government's supposition that it was able to secure peace abroad while it was unable to maintain peace at home.

A large crowd of hostile persons pulled the speakers from the wagon they were using as a platform and finally the police arrested three of the speakers, Mrs. Marianne Hyde and Mrs. Constance Andrews, both of whom have served terms of imprisonment for the cause, and Miss Ogilvie.

90 Degrees Above in Chicago

CHICAGO, June 6.—The first scorcher of the season struck Chicago today when the government thermometer indicated 90 degrees and street level instruments several degrees hotter at three o'clock.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Maurice E. McLaughlin, the American, this afternoon won his match with Horace Rice, the Australian, in the Davis tennis cup preliminaries in three straight sets.

Jest Won "Feminine Derby"

EPSON, Eng., June 6.—The Oaks stakes, or "Feminine Derby," was won today by J. B. Jock. Jest, E. Numan's Debra was second and Sir John Robinson's Arda third. Twelve ran.

Honor Vice-President Marshall

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 6.—Vice President and Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall were guests of Nashville today, having come for the celebration of founders day by the Young Men's Christian Association.

McGOVERN WINS

Judge Kenney Decides in Favor of Defendant in Case of Strogoff vs. McGovern—Other Case Being Tried

In the jury waived session of the superior court this afternoon, Judge Kenney found for the defendant in the case of Strogoff vs. McGovern, an action of tort or contract, which was started this morning.

The next case to go on trial was that of Noyes & Dewar Co. vs. the estate of A. C. Wheelock, an action where the plaintiff company seeks to recover for alleged damages caused by the leaking of water in their store in Middlesex street, the building being the property of the said Wheelock.

Isaac Harris of Boston appeared for the plaintiff, while William A. Hogan of this city represented the defendant.

Graduating Exercises of Lowell Textile School Held This Afternoon

The commencement exercises at the Lowell Textile school were held this afternoon at Southwick hall in the school building with a very large attendance of friends and relatives of the graduates which were numerous. A first class program was carried out and previous to the exercises and at the close of the afternoon the entire school was opened to the public, many taking advantage to inspect this modern and up-to-date place of education. There were eighteen graduates who were presented diplomas, and two post-graduates who received their degrees. This is the first time in the history of the Lowell Textile school that degrees were granted, for in previous years the school had not the right to do it. However, on Feb. 9,

1912, an act was passed by the legislature authorizing the trustees of the Lowell Textile school to confer the degree of bachelor of science in the departments of textile engineering and chemistry and dyeing to pupils who have taken the full four years' course at the Lowell Textile school in either of said departments and passed

Mr. Cummings Who Gave it
Back—$35,000 Wanted

Commissioner Lawrence Cummings attended a meeting of the park commission last night and learned that the commission would like about $35,000 for park purposes. The request was made by Park Commissioner Carr and Mr. Cummings said "let it be" on so big an amount. He was willing to admit that the commission should be given some money but $35,000 was out of the question. Mr. Carr thought the municipal council was voting money for other things not nearly as important as parks and playgrounds. Mr. Cummings said he would present the request of the park commission to the municipal council, but said he would not have the temerity to mention so large a sum.

The commission voted to increase the salary of the superintendent of parks from $1200 to $1600 and Mr. Carr said the superintendent should be supplied with either a good horse or an automobile. Dr. Mignault was not present at last night's meeting.

Miss Fry attended the meeting and asked that something be done as soon as possible to improve the appearance and add to the beauty of Varnum park. She asked that flowers and shrubs be placed there. Supt. Kernan stated that lawn had been placed there but that rats from the river frequent the park, burrow in the lawn and destroy it.

Removal of Trees
The matter of ordering the removal of eight trees in Pawtucket street was taken up. Mr. Carr, chairman of the committee on trees, stated that four of the trees might very well be taken out. Any delay in removing the trees, he said, would interfere with the paving work in the street. The matter was referred to the committee on trees.

Mr. Cummings Appears

Commissioner Cummings was a little late in arriving because of a little hearing of his own at his headquarters in the basement, and after the "good evening" were spoken, Mr. Cummings said: "You have asked for more money for the repair of sidewalks on the commons. I want to ask you what you are going to do with the money you have? I supposed that the money you got was as much for putting the paths in good shape as for anything else."

In reply to Mr. Cummings, Park

Supt. John W. Kernan said: "We haven't any more money at our disposal than enough to keep the edges down on the walks, the lawns cut and the absolute necessities in order. We have 12 men on the pay roll at the present time and the pay roll amounts to about $250 weekly."

In reply to Mr. Cummings Mr. Kernan said that about the same number of men were employed at this time last year and this, he said, is the busy time of the year.

Mr. Greene said it was necessary for the department, with the little money it has, to cut lawns and trim the edges.

"Men come to my office for employment," said Mr. Cummings, "and they say they are told by the park commission that the municipal council hasn't given you enough money and I tell them that we gave you just as much as was given last year."

Mr. Greene allowed that was very true, but called Mr. Cummings' attention to the fact that there is three times as much parkland to look after now as there was ten years ago and there has been considerable increase in wages.

Mr. Cummings said that the expenses in his department last year were about the same as they were ten years ago, although there is twice as much work to be done now as there was then, and he declared that there wasn't as yet been any money borrowed by the present government unless it was for something wholly necessary.

Mr. Rountree suggested that nothing was being done at Shedd park and it was a shame to have it neglected.

"I don't think many people are worrying over the loss of Shedd park," replied Mr. Cummings, and just for that little remark all the flies on the park had to get off.

Mr. Rountree—"Well, $12,000 can never run this department."

Mr. Carr—"I've been stalled on this money question all through the year."

Mr. Cummings, addressing Mr. Rountree: "You wouldn't want any children of yours to go clear to Shedd park to play ball, would you?"

Mr. Rountree—"Well, they do, just the same, and thousands go there in the winter for the skating."

Mr. Cummings—"What has become of the ball ground on the Fort Hill Park?"

Mr. Greene—"Men play there about every week."

Mr. Cummings—"I would suggest that some sort of covering be provided for women and children on the Rogers street side of the park. There is nothing there to protect them from the hot sun."

Mr. Greene—"If you had given us $15,000 last year there would now be plenty of trees and shrubs on this spot, and people could get the natural shade. We cannot put anything there unless we get the money."

Mr. Carr—"Didn't the municipal council borrow money to repave Bridge street?"

Mr. Cummings—"Yes."

Mr. Carr—"Do you think that more necessary than to fix up the park system of the city?"

Mr. Cummings—"No, sir."

After several more yards of pros and cons had been roiled off, Mr. Cummings asked: "How much do you need to do the things you want?"

Mr. Carr—"About $35,000. We ought not to pay five and ten cent store salaries to the supervisors of the playgrounds. Twelve dollars a week for them is too small. We ought to put new sanitary stations on the commons, and clean out that South common pond."

Mr. Kernan—"We have today, to last the remainder of the year, the sum of $655.15."

Mr. Carr—"The College club and the Middlesex Women's club have collected money to support playgrounds. They ought not to do it. It makes papers of the children. Why don't they collect for the Ayer home and St. Peter's orphanage? They came around to me last year to give something for the playgrounds. I wouldn't give a nickel. The city ought to pay all of the bills."

Mr. Cummings—"Why did you turn off one of your most efficient supervisors of playgrounds?"

Mr. Carr—"What?"

Mr. Cummings—"Mr. Reynolds. He was one of your most efficient men."

Mr. Rountree—"That's what you think."

Mr. Cummings—"Lots of people who didn't like him didn't want to see him turned down. I keep faithful employees. I don't care what the consequences are."

Mr. Carr—"I agree with you. There are two or three men of the park department, working on Fort Hill, whom I do not like, but they are good workmen. I wanted to go before the municipal council a year ago and ask for more money, but those in power wouldn't let me. They said there should be no politics in the park board, but I notice that all of them have either been directly or indirectly interested in politics. As they get older they lose sight of that fact."

Mr. Cummings—"Just how much do you want?"

Mr. Carr—"I say $35,000."

Mr. Cummings—"Without any evasion I will say that the municipal council will never give it to you."

pretty good report, too. Mr. Carr asked Mr. Cummings what he thought of it, and Mr. Cummings said: "That is no more than you are expected to do."

Mr. Rountree: "We ought to ask for what we may reasonably expect to get."

Mr. Greene: "I do not believe in asking for a cent. For three years we have asked for money at the beginning of the year, and the council in its wisdom has seen fit to give us certain sums. I believe in running the department within these sums."

Mr. Rountree: "We've got about 300 trees in the city which are a menace to life, and they ought to come down."

Mr. Greene: "You could save wages enough on city hall employees to give us the best park system in this part of the country. If city hall was run on business principles, not political principles, we would have enough money."

Mr. Cummings said he would make a recommendation to the council that more money be given to the park commission.

The matter of determining authority in the matter of the moth department came up.

Mr. Greene: "Are you going to keep Mr. Gordon head of the moth department indefinitely?"

Mr. Cummings: "Yes. The legislature has passed a law which says that the council of cities shall elect the heads of moth departments in the future."

The matter of the woman clerk in the office of the park department was discussed, and it was the belief of the park board members that she received half of her pay from the park department, the other half from the moth appropriation, although records to this effect could not be found. Supt. Kernan said he did not wish to be responsible for material in the park department born in Lenox street, as there are a number of keys held by various persons. Mr. Cummings said he would look into the matter of the pay of a woman clerk for the office.

WANTS $20,000 FOR SO. COMMON

Park Commissioner Proposes Big Improvements There—Brother Members to Ask for $7000

Park Commissioner Carr declared today that he would appear at the next meeting of the municipal council and would ask for $20,000 for the construction of a sanitary station, new ponds, bandstands, fountains and permanent improvements on the South Common.

Mr. Carr says that he will make the request as a citizen and not as a member of the park commission. Mr. Carr will have to put up a line item for the $20,000, though Commissioner Cummings has agreed to submit the order. The other four members of the park commission will appear at the same meeting and will ask for $7000 for parks and playgrounds.

Mr. Carr framed his loan order today. It reads in part as follows:

Order to borrow $20,000 and appropriate the same for the construction of a sanitary station, new ponds, bandstands, fountains and permanent improvements on the South Common.

Ordered by the municipal council of the city of Lowell, as follows: That, first, in providing for the expense of said work, the city treasurer of the city of Lowell, subject to the approval of the commissioner of finance, be and he is hereby authorized and directed to borrow for and in behalf of the city of Lowell from any bank, firm, corporation or individual, or from the commissioners of sinking funds of the city of Lowell, or from the treasurer of the commonwealth, the principal sum of $20,000.

Second: That the said sum borrowed hereunder, with interest, shall be paid in ten equal annual payments, the first payment to be made in one year from the date of the security given, and the remaining payments to be made on the same day of the same month in each succeeding year, until the full amount of $20,000 with interest, is paid.

Third: That the sum of $20,000 be and is hereby appropriated from the general treasury fund, and placed to the credit of an appropriation to be called "Appropriation for the Construction of Sanitary Station, New Ponds, Bandstands, Fountains and Permanent Improvements on the South Common."

PREVENT COMPETITION

Shoe Manufacturer Testified Today

BOSTON, June 6.—"In order to prevent competition we have to buy out competing machines." This statement was attributed to Stanley W. Winslow, president of the United Shoe Machinery Co., by Charles Krippendorf, a shoe manufacturer of Chichesterville, who testified today in the dissolution proceedings against the United company.

On Nov. 5th, 1900, the witness testified, he with a number of other shoe manufacturers conferred with Mr. Winslow at Philadelphia. The object of the conference was to ask Mr. Winslow to eliminate the restricting clauses in the new leases on machine fastening machines.

After a lengthy discussion Mr. Winslow said according to the witness that the prices charged for the supplies did not give a satisfactory return on the capital invested and that the company could sell the supplies at the prevailing prices only in case other machines of the company were used.

"In order to prevent competition," said he, "we have to buy out competing machines."

NOISE OF TEAMS CAUSED PAIN

WOMAN'S RHEUMATISM MADE HER CRY FROM PAIN—FINDS RELIEF IN VAR-NE-SIS.

"Suffering untold agonies so that even the noise of teams made me cry out from the pain as they passed the house; to be fed like a child and lifted on a sheet, was my condition when I commenced taking Var-ne-sis," said Mrs. Lizzie Northrop, who lives at 7 Puffer avenue, Lowell, Mass. "I guess if it had not been for this medicine I would be in the cemetery by now."

"Like everyone else I tried any and everything that was recommended; they all seemed to be sure they had a cure, but I got gradually worse as most of the medicine I took disturbed my stomach. I was about discouraged but hearing so much about this Var-ne-sis I decided to try it. I saw almost at once that it was different, pains were not so severe—the stiffness of my joints became less noticeable and I began to improve rapidly so that today I have not a pain or an ache—I feel fine, thanks to Var-ne-sis."

"It is just such cases that have built up the reputation and sales of my remedy," said Mr. Varney. "It is simply that I have gotten out of the beaten path of the ordinary drugs so often given for stomach trouble and rheumatism. My remedy reaches the cause and goes to the root of the trouble, the stomach and liver; increases the power of the blood to throw off the disease. Get these organs in good condition and I repeat disease cannot exist. I am the only man in the country that has a collection of crutches and canes obtained from cured patients by my remedy. I am the only man in the country to treat the stomach and liver to reach this dread disease, rheumatism. My success is far beyond my dreams and amply repaid by the fact that wherever I go people that I have never seen before come up to me and grasping my hand thank me for what my remedy has done for them. If there is a man or woman in this city suffering from stomach trouble or rheumatism I want them to get Var-ne-sis today and know what good health means or write for booklet to W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass. Dows, the druggist, is the local agent. Get it now."

On Nov. 5th, 1900, the witness testified, he with a number of other shoe manufacturers conferred with Mr. Winslow at Philadelphia. The object of the conference was to ask Mr. Winslow to eliminate the restricting clauses in the new leases on machine fastening machines.

"In order to prevent competition," said he, "we have to buy out competing machines."

ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH

To Have New Organ Specially Built by Melrose Firm—The Old Instrument for Sale

The organ which for the past 11 or 15 years has provided the music at the services in St. Michael's church is soon to be replaced by an organ of more modern structure, and operation which is at present being constructed at the plant of James Cole and company in Melrose. The old organ is offered for sale by the organ company, having been accepted in part payment for the new instrument.

The organ which at present is situated in the choir loft of the edifice in Centralville was obtained from the first Baptist church in Church street, this city, at the time of the dedication of St. Michael's. It had already been used a number of years and was in first class condition. During the past 11 years or more it has rendered excellent service at St. Michael's, and is still in good shape. It is operated by a water motor, contains two manuals and about 27 stops, two on the pedals.

An electric motor will furnish power for the new organ and in every other way it will be of the most up-to-date construction. It is some time ago that Rev. Father Shaw decided to purchase a new instrument and about three weeks ago the arrangements and preliminary steps had been completed and the building of the organ was begun at the Cole plant. The old organ will be removed during the latter part of August and it is the intention of those in charge to have the new one ready for operation about the first of September.

POLICE MOTOR SQUADRON

Will Make Its First Appearance on Sunday—No Definite Assignments Yet Made

WORDS FAIL ME

I don't know how to express myself properly to tell the people of Lowell how I feel over their magnificent vote of confidence on Saturday of last week and Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The end of the month with rent bills due, with a holiday Friday and in many cases Saturday, with many mills shut down from Thursday night to Monday morning, with a broken week and a broken pay envelope, you flocked into my store Saturday and Monday from all Lowell and nearby towns.

I knew I had the magnet in the form of phenomenal bargains---But what's that? A concern can have all the bargains in the land, but if the people don't believe it, they won't come in to see the bargains.

I never worry about selling a man if he calls to investigate. I have the goods at the price all the time to sell the average person, but when I take the notion to break prices, why I can sell the tightest pocketbook that the high cost of living ever produced.

Many of you need clothing---money must be an object with you if quality is convincingly present. You saw me advertise this special shipment of woollens in last week's Sun for $15.00 Suit to order. You see me advertising it now for $12.50 Suit to order. You broke all expectations last Saturday and Monday the way you came in and then bought. Break all records again this week. You deserve the bargains, the merchandise at the price deserves your trade and I deserve your business for daring to mark such quality within the reach of all.

Members of Co. G to be Inoculated

ANNUAL ENC. ML TO BE HELD IN JULY AND AUGUST

Other Items of Interest From the "Castles"—Companies Will Hold Open Air Drills

Lieut. M. D. Bryant, M. C. M. V. M., is to be kept busy for some time, for at their last meeting the members of Co. G, M. V. M., of this city, unanimously voted that each member be inoculated with anti-typhoid toxin, which is a great preventive used in the United States army against typhoid fever.

This toxin it is said will make a man practically immune from typhoid fever for two or three years. The inoculating will be started some time next week and it will be some time before each member has received his share of the toxin. It is believed the other military companies will follow Company G in this respect.

Captains Peterson of Co. C, Jeyes of Co. G and Craig of Co. K, attended the officers' council in Boston Wednesday night. The council was held at the state armory in the Hub city and was presided over by Lieut. Col. Cook, who delivered important instructions to the officers.

The officers of the infantry and medical corps of the state militia will have their school at West Barnstable beginning June 19 to 22 inclusive. All the commissioned officers and the enlisted men taking the courses A and B, will have a service school on the same dates. Some of the company cooks will also be in attendance.

The annual encampment of the Massachusetts companies will be held from July 1 to Aug. 3 inclusive at West Barnstable. The exercises will be partly maneuvers and partly regimental.

Rifle Match Saturday
Saturday afternoon the four local companies will take part in the Parker and Butler rifle match at the rifle grange in Dracut. The event promises to be very interesting for there is a hot contest for the cups offered in this match.

Capt. L. G. Hunter, commissary officer for the Sixth regiment, will be in charge of the commissioned officers at the school this year.

Very soon the companies will perform their weekly drill in the open air, for three big are lights were installed in the field adjoining the armory, which is state property. The lawn was mowed very close to the ground and the place is an ideal one for the purpose it will be adapted for. Capt. Jeyes, armorer at the "bastille" realizing weather conditions in the summer time, decided to put the field in shape and have the lights installed so that the men can have their regular weekly drill in the open air which will mean a lot to them.

The athletic contest in the Lowell Armory Athletic association was completed some time ago, but the prizes have not as yet been awarded, and will not be until the fall, when forfeitures will be held.

The non-commissioned officers of Co. G are organizing a party which will be held at Grange hall, Dracut Centre on Tuesday, June 13. The affair which promises to be a rare event in military circles is in charge of the following committee: Seret, John Higgins, chairman; Sergeants William S. Miner, George D. Crowell, J. C. Barnes, E. A. Deslandes, Harry E. Jenkins; Corporals Chas. A. Conley, John J. Walsh, Philippe H. Loup, Charles Barton, Gustaf Anderson, Ralph E. Bennett and Cook Frank St. Peter.

It is reported at the armory that a popular sergeant of Co. G is soon to become a victim of Cupid, whom they say has a great hold on him at present, the same not to be released until some charming young woman is made happy.

MGR. O'CALLAGHAN DEAD

Was Vicar General of Manchester Diocese

CONCORD, N. H., June 6.—Mgr. Eugene Michael O'Callaghan, vicar-general of the Roman Catholic diocese of Manchester, died in this city yesterday, at the age of 65 years.

Mgr. O'Callaghan was born in Kanturk, Ireland, Sept. 29, 1845, and was ordained to the priesthood for the diocese of Portland, Me., May 21, 1862. Six years later he came to New Hampshire and became vicar-general of the diocese of Manchester in 1890. On two occasions he has administered the affairs of the diocese, upon the deaths of Bishops Bradley and Delaney. He was one of the best known clergymen in New England.

SWEEPING INVESTIGATION

Senate Lobby Committee to Extend Work

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The senate "lobby" investigating committee, decided last night to extend its present inquiry into a sweeping investigation of all organized efforts that have been made to influence action upon legislation of any kind now pending before congress, or under consideration in the recent past.

This action was determined upon at the end of the afternoon session, after several nights had added to the testimony already given tending to show that well organized and vigorous work is being done by commercial interests upon the sugar, wool and other tariff issues. The committee decided to subpoena practically all persons thus far mentioned, by senators, as prominent "lobby" men, and to learn the exact nature of all organized work that is being directed toward influencing any member of congress upon any subject.

The efforts of the committee will be centered first upon the sugar fight, next upon wool and after that a full investigation will be made that will take in the activities of prohibition and liquor "lobbies," the Alaskan railway forces, labor unions, farmers' protective organizations and practically all other organized bodies that have carried on publicity campaigns, "endless chain" letter writing or other means of influencing members of the senate or house. Senators Smoot, Mark Smith, Shaf-roth and Williams testified during the afternoon session. They produced new bundles of literature sent out by various organizations and individuals. The investigating committee finally decided that it would have to pass on this literature and determine whether it was "misleading" or would have "pernicious effect."

Members of the committee agreed that even though the raising of money for publicity campaigns might be legitimate, the issuing of false statements or misleading public documents would be an "insidious attempt to influence the public and members of congress." That detectives have been used in some cases to shadow members of congress in the interest of securing certain legislative action is a point which Senator Cummings will endeavor to establish. He asked Senator Smoot yesterday whether the latter knew of any such activity. Senator Smoot said he had "heard of it" but could give the committee no information. Senator Cummings declined to state what further witnesses would be produced or to indicate the nature of the detective work that has been done.

MISS SARAH E. SCALES

Teacher Was Laid at Rest Yesterday

The funeral of Miss Sarah E. Scales, a former school teacher of this city, took place yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended, for deceased had been on the teaching staff of the public schools of Lowell for the past 30 years, and many of her former pupils, young and old, attended the service in order to pay a last tribute to one whom they loved and respected.

The funeral service was conducted at the home of Dr. Downs, 14 Porter street, and later another service was held in the chapel of the Edison cemetery, Rev. Appleton Grantham, pastor of St. Anne's church, officiating.

The path from the chapel to the burying lot over which the body was carried, was strewn with wild flowers, while the grave was covered with floral offerings, this being the work of the pupils and teachers of the Wood street school. The former pupils of deceased from the Cross street school were also present at the grave and deposited their floral tributes in the grave as the casket was lowered.

The bearers were Messrs. Henry H. Harris, John Barr, Albert Boefeller and Arthur K. Whitcomb. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Herbert D. Bixby, under the direction of Undertaker John A. Weinbeck.

RETURN 20 INDICTMENTS

Grand Trunk Charged With Illegal Concessions

COLUMBUS, O., June 6.—The United States grand jury, which reported yesterday, returned 20 indictments against the Grand Trunk Western Railway Co., charging it with making illegal concessions in freight rates between Newark, Ohio, and Battle Creek, Mich.

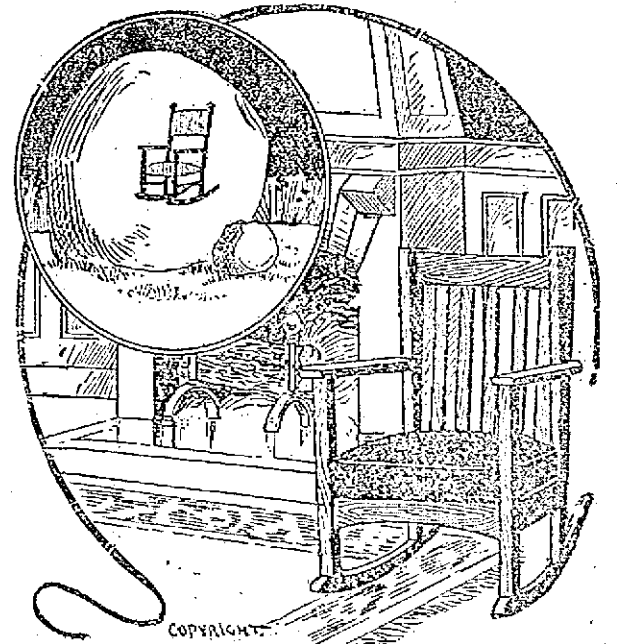

Under the federal laws, the company is liable to a minimum fine of $1000 for each alleged violation or $20,000 for all.

The case investigated by the grand jury involves the transportation of coal from mines in Belmont county to Battle Creek, Mich.

Resinol stops skin torments

THE soothing, healing medication in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap penetrates the tiny pores of the skin, clears them of impurities, and stops itching instantly. Resinol heals eczema, rash, ringworm, and other eruptions, and removes disfiguring pimples and blackheads quickly and easily, even when other treatments have been useless.

Prescribed for 18 years

Resinol is not an experiment. It is a doctor's prescription which proved so successful for skin and scalp troubles that it has been used by other doctors all over the country for eighteen years. No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval.

Practically every druggist, large or small, sells Resinol Ointment (50c and $1) and Resinol Soap (25c), but you can test them at our expense if you prefer. Send to Dept. 30-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a liberal sample of each and the two new Resinol bottles.

Live Bits of Sport

Tomorrow's game at Lawrence will attract a great many local fans to the down river ball park. Manager Pieper is looking for a record breaking attendance and who wonders?

The Harvard crew is getting some hard work these days at their training quarters at Red Toy, Conn. and Coach Wray is feeling more optimistic every day. His shakeup of last week seems to have put more snap into the 'Varsity boat.

Anderson hit better yesterday than he has in any game thus far and he hopes that the boy of the ladder will prove an incentive to every player on the team to go after the ball hard. Lowell has lost several hard fought games on account of the needed hit being lacking at the psychological moment.

P. C. Thompson, a student at the Princeton Theological school, made a new world's record in the all around amateur championships held at Princeton yesterday, beating out the marks of both Martin Sheridan and Jim Thorpe. His running of the high hurdle in 17 seconds flat, was a remarkable performance when the fact is taken into consideration that he had already contested four spirited events.

Horace Fogel, former owner of the Philadelphia National, arrived in the national capital yesterday, all primed and loaded for the new attack upon organized baseball. Fogel alleges in his declaration that "all organized baseball is a trust." Fogel's present crusade will probably terminate as quickly as the others he has started, or, rather, tried to start.

There have been several accidents during this season's baseball, one case of which happened to Shortstop Courtney of the Lawrence team. Courtney was given up for dead, but is now wearing a uniform. Gillespie, who played third base for Providence last year, was struck in the head while batting for the Chattanooga club against Birmingham, Tuesday. His skull is badly fractured and he is not expected to live.

A similar offer to that which Tyrus Cobb committed last year and which led later to the first and last baseball strike on record is reported to have been committed at New Bedford last Monday. Sweet, the White Sox's center fielder, did not relish some of the remarks cast at him by the bleachers and dove into the stands without any preamble. He seized one fan by the scruff of the neck and pulling him out of his seat on to the field, punched him several times before other members of the ball clubs and spectators pulled him away from the much surprised and heated fan. Such actions as this ought to be severely censured by the league officials if baseball is going to remain in the popular niche it now occupies.

The spectators take great pains to show their disapproval of an umpire in some of the American association cities. In Milwaukee last Saturday Umpire Johnstone ordered an outfielder named Randall from the game and it so happens that this same player is the most popular ball player in the Milwaukee club. Loud voiced protests and taunts followed immediately in order with the result that the umpire had to have a surgeon take some half dozen stitches in his head from a cut inflicted with a broken bottle. Don't let this article put any bad ideas into your heads, boys, when Empire O'Brien again afflicts Lowell with his presence!

Steve Kennedy of Lawrence, certainly here out his reputation of an erratic boxer when he shelled Joe Egan of South Boston last night at the Unity club of Lawrence. It was generally conceded before the bout that Egan had it on the Lawrence boy as he had beaten him previously but Kennedy forced the fighting from the first tap of the ring. The referee's decision of a draw was so generally disliked that the crowd tried to get into the ring to mob the decision-maker. The extra police protection was the only thing that saved him from a bad mauling. Any referee who is a party to a frame-up should be denied police protection. If this was the case there would not be so many unpopular decisions rendered among New England clubs.

BRAVES DEFEAT CUBS

Boston Team Won by Score of 8 to 4

Hess allowed Chicago but six hits yesterday and the Boston Braves won their game 8 to 4. Hess weakened in the ninth inning badly and Chicago scored all her runs in this session on five hits, an error and two passes. Boston hammered both Cheney and Humphries hard, thirteen hits being the total made by Stallings' men.

Connolly, Sweeney and Hess all hit the ball when hits mean runs. The nobbling of Maraville and Connolly was the feature of the contest.

Red Sox Lost
Chicago, mainly through the brilliant pitching of Scott, defeated the Red Sox yesterday by the score of 5 to 0. Scott only allowed the Boston batters four scattered hits, two of which were scratches. Boston's three errors also contributed to Chicago's rout. Leonard occupied the mound for Boston and was touched up for 10 hits, four of which were doubles. Wagner did not play in yesterday's contest as he split his finger fielding a fast grounder while the world's champions were warming up before the game. Ball played his position and got two of Boston's four hits. A double steal by Ruth and Lord, the former scoring on the play, was the feature of the game.

For those seeking to take out the first papers in naturalization the office will be open at 9 o'clock on Thursday morning, June 12.

Big Tennis Match Today

NEW YORK, June 6.—At the West Side Tennis club, on the same stretch of turf around which crowds gathered two years ago to see the Americans defeat the English in the Davis cup preliminary, American and Australian players contended today for the privilege of challenging England, holder of the Davis cup. Arrangements were made at the club to seat a gallery of 1,000 spectators and indications were that a full gallery would witness the play each of the three days it will take place.

Mrs. Wilson Gives Flowers to Sick

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Hundreds of sick rooms in the hospitals of the capital today are brightened with cut flowers and perfumed with the fragrance of the White House conservatory. Each gift bears the card of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. The distribution was made through the agency of the National Plant, Fruit and Flower guild and all of the hospitals were remembered.

To Establish Federal Park

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The establishment of a wide stretching park under federal control extending from Washington to Baltimore is to be pressed by leading citizens of the capital, among them a present commissioner of the District of Columbia and his predecessor. The board of trade has appointed a committee which today will begin an investigation of the territory between the two cities. It will be a general survey of the territory, and a general idea of the cost of property by condemnation.

MANAGER DAHLEN SAYS HE HAS COMING STAR IN PITCHER YINGLING

Manager Bill Dahlen of Brooklyn says he has one of the most promising young left handed pitchers in Earl Yingling, one who will be heard from before the season is over. Yingling has been with the Superbas for two seasons and has not been used to any great extent, but Dahlen says he is now ready to spring him on the fans as a regular. On his first appearance this season against Cincinnati May 11, Yingling made a strike record. He relieved Allen in the seventh inning, with Becker on third, Tinker on first and one out. Hohlitzel hit the first ball pitched by Yingling into a double play, retiring the side. It so happened that Yingling would have been the first man up for Brooklyn, but Phelps was sent to bat for him and grounded out. Thus Yingling got into the game and did yeoman service on exactly one pitch. With Becker, Stack, Barton, Doherty, Allen and Yingling all in good shape Brooklyn will have a formidable touring department. There is also a chance of Elmer Knicker, the Hoboken, coming to terms with the club.

STEIN-BLOCH

$25.00

SUITS

$17.50

It happened this way: The tailors' strike caused a delay in manufacturing that resulted in wholesale cancellations of orders by retailers.

Result: Big stocks at the wrong end of the season (for the manufacturers), which must be forced out at liberal price concessions.

We got in on over 100 suits from Stein-Bloch, mostly small but choice lots—at 25 per cent. less than regular prices. All new lots, fresh from the tailors; in fact, many at this writing, are not yet in the store.

In marking them at $17.50 we're making our usual profit, but the buyer gets unusual value.

They're mostly in young men's models and sizes—a few in larger and stout sizes—and in the season's choicest fabrics.

It's the first time this season we've offered a Stein-Bloch Suit under $20.

In connection with these Stein-Bloch Suits, we have revised downward to $17.50 many higher priced lines, to conform to the new standard of value we have set.

We advise prompt action by those interested.

all clubbed both Johnson and Cooney hard, thirteen safe hits being the result of their bat swinging. Fall River also had six misplays several of which helped matters along when men were on bases. The fourth inning, in which Lowell scored four runs, settled Fall River's fate.

Henderson weakened in the eighth inning and Zieser was immediately bat, Anderson scoring the first run of the game with his double to center and Clemens' sacrifice fly. Clemens' catch of Fishburne's long hit to center was the deciding feature of the contest. The score:

CARMEN WON VICTORY

9 in 11 Bill was Passed to
Third Reading

IN SENATE YESTERDAY BY VOTE
OF 23 TO 9

BILL Vigorously Opposed by Boston Elevated—Big Day For Governor—Three Victories Are Sustained

Street railway employees won a victory in the senate yesterday when the nine-hours-in-eleven bill was passed to a third reading by a vote of 23 to 9, every senator being present, and, with the exception of the president, voting upon the bill, which has been vigorously opposed by the Boston Elevated Railway company.

Both public galleries of the senate were crowded, and President Greenwood furnished one demonstration of applause or disapproval in the galleries, and said if persisted in they would be cleared.

Senator Horgan said that the Boston Elevated was trying to put the burden of this legislation on the carmen.

Senator Blanchard said this was not so; the Boston Elevated doesn't want this bill, he has offered; it doesn't, in fact, want any bill.

Senator Horgan said he had no doubt the last remark was absolutely true.

The senator from Boston cited a case of a carman who worked 16 hours and 13 minutes in 24 hours, when, for public service employees eight hours is considered a sufficient strain and for public service corporations it was even more imperative that the same consideration should be given the employee. It is a question of right and wrong.

Recurring again to the question of constitutionality, Senator Blanchard asked Senator Horgan if he would refer that question to the attorney general. Senator Horgan said "emphatically, no." He would not refer a question of the constitutionality of this bill to any other than the supreme court. "The legislature is now on the last legs of the session," said Senator Horgan, "the supreme court is not now in session, and will not be until fall; it would be impossible for this general court to obtain its opinion."

The motion of Senator Blanchard to substitute the nine hours in fourteen bill reported by the committee on street railways was rejected on a rising vote of 1 to 23.

The bill as it passed the house for nine hours in eleven was ordered to a third reading by a vote of 23 to 9, every senator entitled to vote being recorded, except the president. The vote was as follows:

In favor—Allen, Bailey, Bazley, Bellamy, Brennan, Chase, Clark, Draper, Fay, Fisher, Fitzgerald, Goss, Halley, Hickey, Hutton, Horgan, Johnson, Joyce, Mack, McCarthy, McDonald, McFarlane, Newwood, Quigley, Ross, Timilty, Wells, Wheeler, Williams—23.

Opposed—Blanchard, Coddage, Ed-rington, Gordon, Hersey, Hobbs, Montague, Stearns, Ward—9.

Big Day for Governor

It was a great day for Governor Foss yesterday. The senate sustained one of his vetoes and the house sustained two. The veto of the state house firemen's pay which bill the house had passed over the governor's objections was sustained by the senate. The bill to reimburse Arlington in $1800 for the care of state wards in a knothole epidemic in which the town had to buy a dwelling house to isolate the patients was passed over the governor's objections in the senate while the house sustained its Excellency.

The house failed to give the necessary two-thirds vote to pass the teachers' tenure of office bill over Gov. Foss' veto and so the latter is sustained, although the majority was against the governor. This bill did not originate in the senate.

Speaker Cushing ruled against the admission of Gov. Foss' message recommending that the house consider again the amendment to the constitution of an income tax and that Rep. Gordon's point of order that the house could not for a second time consider the same amendment was well taken. Accordingly the amendment proposed by the governor was laid aside.

An eight hour day for watchmen employed by the commonwealth was rejected by the house.

The house turned down the order of Rep. Haines of Medford for an investigation into the recent increase of passenger fares on the Boston & Maine railroad.

An order to investigate the strike at the Sturtevant Blower works and the Becker Milling Co. both Gov. Foss' properties was referred to the committee on rules yesterday.

The senate also yesterday without debate or division passed to be engrossed the Washburn railroad bill.

The bill to protect miners and regulate their employment was given a reading with the understanding that Senator Ross of New Bedford will, on the next stage, offer an amendment to strike out section 8 of the bill which prohibits the employment of a minor under 16 years for more than eight hours in a textile factory. Mr. Ross' contention is that this must lead to the eight hour day in textile factories, a thing which nobody wants and which would work a hardship in the families dependent on the mills for their living.

POST OFFICE CHANGES

To Afford More Floor Space

According to a letter from First Assistant Postmaster General Daniel C. Roper to Congressman John Jacob Rogers, an inspector has examined the local postoffice in a report that has made recommendations for certain remodeling to afford additional space for the mailing department. In his letter, Mr. Roper said that it is evident that relief should be afforded as promptly as possible and that the matter has been taken up by the supervising architect.

In his report, the inspector submitted a rough sketch of the first floor, showing as he said, the congested state of the work room together with a sketch of the second floor of the building. On the latter floor, he said, the alterations would incur but slight expense. He suggested removing the partitions between the corridor and the work room and taking in the two rooms, one of which is given up to the deputy collector of internal revenue who is there but an hour at a time and only at wide intervals, and the other to civil service examinations for which purpose it is employed but 25 or 30 times during the year. The inspector told of the custom of holding some of the examinations in the high school building and said further that arrangements for another room for the civil service examinations could be made when required.

With the alterations made as outlined, a work room of 1114 square feet floor space would be provided and if required, the entire mailing system could be provided for in this new room, and light would be had from two sides. He said that the expense would not be 1-10 that of building an addition and on the other hand would not interfere with such an addition in its construction if the addition is approved by congress, but would rather be a positive benefit.

According to his plan, all alterations will be made on the interior for the project necessitates no work on the outside of the building.

SLIDING SCALE

Plan to Tax Manufacturers of Tobacco as Recommended by Mr. McIlhenny

WASHINGTON, June 5.—At the White House today President Wilson was still considering Attorney General McIlhenny's plan to tax manufacturers of tobacco on a sliding scale and had come to no decision. The plan is to increase the rate of tax as the production goes over a certain mark with the view of curbing monopoly.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

A number of those interested in the formation of a local branch of the Parents-Teachers association met yesterday afternoon in the high school. There were addresses by Superintendent Benjamin E. Martin and Principal Arthur W. Trumb and an informal discussion of plans after which the matter was left in charge of a committee. Miss Alice F. Fozzoe was tendered a reception at her home in Mansur it's a safe investment"

Of course it is! Studebaker wagons are built on honor, with sixty years of wagon-building experience—and with every wagon goes a Studebaker guarantee.

You can't afford to have a dealer sell you some other wagon represented to be "just as good."

If you want a wagon that will last, run easily and stand up to its work, there is only one wagon to buy—and that's a Studebaker.

Don't trade ten extra years of service for a few dollars difference in price.

Studebaker wagons are made to fit every requirement of business or pleasure, in city, town or country.

STRIKERS IN AGAIN AND OUT AGAIN

Ipswich Workers Who Reported for Work Yesterday Failed to Show Up Today

IPSWICH, June 6.—Six hundred strikers who yesterday reported for work at the Ipswich hosiery mills after six weeks' absence failed to report today as the result, it is said, of the influence of Joseph Schiller, an organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, who came here last night and addressed meetings of Greek and Polish operatives.

One hundred Greeks and 500 Poles are said to have indicated their intention of standing by the Industrial Workers in the fight for a 20 per cent increase in wages. The plant was in operation with about 500 hands.

Announcement was made by the management this morning that hereafter no help would be taken on without application first being made at the office. Heretofore strikers have been permitted to return with the approval of the foreman. The new move is looked upon by the strikers as an attempt on the part of the mill owners to keep out members of the Industrial Workers.

Schiller promised the strikers last night that Joseph J. Ector and Arturo Giovannitti, leaders of the Lawrence strike, would be here within a day or two to assume charge of the local situation.

LOWELL COUNCIL, ROYAL ARCANUM

Heard Rep. Walsh's Report of Supreme Council Session

At a well attended meeting of Lowell Council, No. 8, held last night in Odd Fellows temple considerable routine business was transacted and one candidate was initiated into the mysteries of the order. Some of the members reported many prospective candidates and it is expected that their names will be brought up at the next meeting.

Under the good of the order a very interesting talk was given by Past Grand Regent A. G. Walsh, now supreme representative, concerning the doings at the supreme council meeting held in Quebec. He also gave an outline of the early history of the city of Quebec and his talk was very much enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served and cigars were passed by the orator. The meeting broke up at a late hour all thoroughly pleased with the results.

The officers of the council are: Regent, George McElroy; vice regent, Edward I. White; past regent, John S. Jackson; orator, George H. Gurney; chaplain, Albert McElroy; guide, Louis Fielding; warden, Frank Stanley; sentry, Nels Nelson; secretary, Linson H. Devoe; treasurer, George King; collector, Frank C. Gilman.

Elgin Lodge, N. E. O. P., Receives Flag
At the regular meeting of Elgin lodge, No. 165, N. E. O. P., held in Veritas hall last night a large silk flag was presented to the order by Mrs. Dora A. Chase. Many members and friends were present to take part in the exercises accompanying the presentation of the flag.

The grand vice warden of the grand lodge of Massachusetts, Brother Asa Smith, made the presentation speech on behalf of Mrs. Chase, extending the greetings of the grand warden. He said in his presentation speech that the month of June, with its beautiful green foliage, seemed the best fitted for an affair of this kind. He hoped that every lodge within his jurisdiction would observe flag night by the presentation of a suitable flag by some member or members of the lodge. He also suggested that the flag of Elgin lodge be displayed in the hall at every meeting night.

The United States flag is the best and third oldest in the world. It is symbolic of the New England Order of Protection, in that it gives protection to all citizens and home owners of the United States. Brother Smith then presented the flag accompanied by "The Star Spangled Banner" played off on the piano by Sister Anna Herd. In addition to the presentation of the flag the following program was carried out: Piano solo, Sister Anna Herd; reading, W. W. Fred Timmons; remarks, Sister Claire V. Williams of Crystal Lodge, No. 6, of Haverhill; remarks, Deputy Grand Warden Percy W. Valentine.

During the evening the members were served with confections, after which a vote of thanks was extended to Sister Chase and Brother Smith.

The Eagles of the state will hold their annual field day next week. Some idea of the size and calibre of the Lowell Aerie can be gained when it is said that in all the games and events of that day Lowell Eagles have entered in every one of them. Each individual and team is working as they never worked before to bring victory to the Lowell nest. In fact the same spirit appears to animate the Athletic section of the order as that which is guiding that progressive part of it, which says "We will be second to no aerie in size, or importance in the state. In maintaining this spirit, there has been already upwards of one hundred applications for membership since the charter has been re-opened with every prospect of the number reaching two hundred on flag day, Sunday, June 23. Something like that undreamed of.

HEAR 24 MORE SENATORS

Senate Lobby Investigation Continues

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Although 24 senators were yet to be heard when the senate lobby investigation got under way today, acting Chairman Reed was of the opinion that the investigators would be able to turn the light upon some of the so-called lobbyists subpoenaed before adjournment tonight. With the scent of the lobby already strong, Senator Reed was convinced that the committee is on the right trail at last and that from some of the scores of men who have been summoned it will be able to extract information concerning President Wilson's lobby statement.

Senator Reed announced he would ask the senate for an indefinite extension of time for the holding of the hearings. Objection by Senator Jones yesterday prevented the consideration of a similar request but the Missouri senator expected to obtain approval today.

NEGRO MUST HANG FOR ASSAULTING WOMAN

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Wilson today refused to interfere with the death sentence of Nathaniel Green, a negro who last Christmas night assaulted a white woman almost within sight of the capitol. Green will hang Monday and will be the first man to pay a death penalty.

In the district of Columbia for felonious assault. Repeated delays in execution of the sentence after Green pleaded guilty recently moved a committee of 160 women, all prominent in official or social life, to petition the court here to act with more expedition.

SMALL STRIKE

Not being satisfied with the new wage scale going into effect next Monday at the plant of the Union Webbing Co., 287 Thorndike street, fourteen weavers from the said plant left their work yesterday and declared a strike.

The weavers have been getting 75 cents a gross, running one loom. Yesterday a notice to the effect that a cut in their wages would go into effect on Monday next was posted in the mill, the reduction announced being from 75 to 50 cents a gross, and a weaver to run two looms.

J. Townsend Walker, of Providence, R. I., manager and part owner of the plant stated yesterday if his men do not return to work soon, he will remove his machinery to Providence. He said the weavers were making $20 and $21 per week, and the firm felt it did not get enough profit to warrant it doing business. With the new wage scale said Mr. Walker the men will increase my production, work a little harder and still make $18 to $20 a week.

CLERK KILLS TICKET AGENT

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—James McNair, ticket agent for the Pennsylvania railroad at Union station, was shot and killed at noon today and his chief clerk, Ralph Pauly, was fatally shot by D. C. Sage, a clerk who had failed to be promoted in recent changes in the staff of the ticket department.

Sage entered the ticket office about half an hour before the shooting. There was no quarrel, it is said, but some conversation over the promotions. Without a threat Sage drew his gun and fired three shots. The first struck McNair, and he died in a few minutes; the second hit Pauly, inflicting an abdominal wound from which physicians at the hospital where he was taken say he will die. Sage made his escape through the crowded waiting room.

GIRL RUN OVER BY AUTOMOBILE

A little Polish girl, aged about seven years, whose name could not be learned, was struck by an automobile at Merrimack square this afternoon, but fortunately her injuries are not serious.

According to people who saw the accident, the little girl was crossing Prescott street at 1:50 o'clock this afternoon, when a touring car, owned and operated by R. Dunford of Chelmsford Centre came along Merrimack street and turned into Prescott street, just as the little tot attempted to make her way across the road.

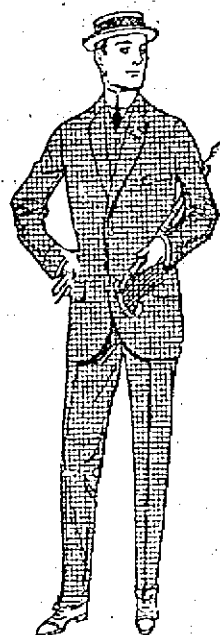

Thrown to Pavement

The machine was being driven at a moderate rate of speed. It is said, but although the brakes were applied, the child was struck and thrown to the hard pavement, one of the front wheels passing over her right arm, causing a slight wound. Dr. Jones, who happened in the vicinity at the time of the accident examined the girl, but found no serious injury. Later he took her to her home in Davidson street in his automobile.

The driver of the machine which struck the child brought his automobile to a stop and when he was told the injuries were not serious, he continued his trip after giving his name and address to the police. The accident was the cause of a large gathering at Merrimack square.

JURY WAIVED SESSION

Divorce Granted—Other Cases on Trial

Today witnesses the closing of the jury waived session of the superior court in the court house in Gorham street and at noon time there was but one case on the list awaiting trial while another was being brought to a close.

The suit of Strogoff against McGauvran in which plaintiff charges the defendant with carelessly allowing certain books and household goods stored with the defendant for a consideration, to become damaged or lost, and with appropriating a part of them to his own use. The defense denies the material allegations. Isaac Harris, Esq., represents the plaintiff with Lawyer William Hogan for the defense. The trial of the case was begun yesterday morning and it was expected would have been completed during the afternoon. It was, however, resumed this morning and shortly before noon was still occupying the court. There were a number of witnesses to be heard and the examination of these required considerable time.

At the opening of the jury waived session, one divorce case was heard and a decree nisi granted to Blanche E. Poole against W. Frank Poole for desertion.

Superior Civil Session

Yesterday in the superior civil session, the defense in the trial of the accident suit for $25,000 of Ernest Lyons vs. Boston Elevated Railway opened its case and this morning continued the submitting of the evidence. Most of the testimony was by experts and an official at present connected with the Edison Electric Co. of Boston was on the stand yesterday and today. There were other expert witnesses to be heard.

This afternoon the case of Lyons vs. Boston Elevated was continued to Monday morning when the jury will take a view on the place in question, in Boston. There were one or two other cases to come up but they were adjourned without trial.

Red Sox Visit Mayor
Helme Wagner, shortstop, Billy Carrigan, catcher, and Buck O'Brien, pitcher, all of the Red Sox aggregation, were visitors at Mayor O'Donnell's office at city hall late yesterday afternoon. The trio motored from Boston and enjoyed a very pleasant hour with the mayor.

FOR STOCKS AT THE OPENING

TODAY

Large Buying Orders—Outburst of Selling at Noon—Severe Declines After Noon

NEW YORK, June 6.—There was a strong demand for stocks at the opening today and the market rebounded sharply from its recent decline. Large buying orders for the important stocks were executed and practically the whole list showed gains. Erie, Amal, Union Pacific, Utah Copper, Can. and Western Maryland rose a point and Can Pacific 2 1/2. There were a few weak spots. American Can. and Sloss Sheffield sold down a point. The Petroleum stocks also were weak.

Irregularity and lower prices resulted from realizing sales but the market soon steadied and went higher than at the opening. Cash for other low priced shares were heavy which restrained the improving tendency of the leading issues.

Toward the close of the forenoon trading there was a renewed outburst of selling. Prices were borne down swiftly below yesterday's close and a number of new lower records for the long decline were reached. General speculative conditions were little changed and traders were disposed to wait for new developments, but a temporarily oversold condition. Isolated points of weakness appeared while the market was forging upward and the cumulative effect of these recent declines ultimately was a factor in bearing down the whole list.

For a time after midday the list broke badly. Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, Lehigh, Southern Pacific and Steel selling from one to two points under yesterday's closing. Severe declines also were made in a long list of obscure securities.

Accumulation went on steadily in the afternoon and persistence in the demand compelled heavy short covering. The closing three points below yesterday's final level and Union Pacific 1 1/2.

The market closed strong.

INDUCED CRIMINALS TO BURGLARIZE STRIKERS AND POLICE IN BATTLE

Scathing Arraignment of the N. Y. Detective Bureau Contained in Current Committee Report

NEW YORK, June 6.—Scathing a merchant and others." Levy testified that in this case Department detective bureau and the charge that a partnership exists between some detectives and criminals are contained in the third section of the current committee report on police conditions submitted to the board of aldermen today. A black night over the report's adoption was expected. "Benjamin Levy," says the report, "who had never been convicted of a crime, testified that at the request of officials in the detective bureau he had often induced criminals to commit burglaries in order that they might be arrested. He was strongly corroborated by reputable citizens, including an official of an insurance company."

In Stettin, Germany, as Sequel to Killing of Striker by a Non-Striker—Many Wounded

STETTIN, Germany, June 6.—A pitched battle between them and the strikers occurred, during which the police freely used their sabres and revolvers. The strikers replied with pistol shots but they were soon overcome by the disciplined force and were finally dispersed, leaving many of their number wounded on the ground.

The workers in a chicory factory struck work some time ago and last evening one of them attacked a man who had continued at work. In the fight that ensued the striker was killed. His comrades later gathered in front of the factory and demanded that the non-striker be handed over to them. The demand being refused the strikers threatened to set the factory on fire.

The local police were unable to cope with the mob and reinforcements were called for from Stettin. Shortly afterward a body of 300 armed policemen arrived in automobiles from headquarters in Stettin and

MASON SAFETY TREAD CO.

Protests Award Made by Ald. Cummings

The following correspondence relative to the award of work by the buildings department on engine house No. 1, is self explanatory:

Lowell, Mass., June 5, 1913.

Mr. Lawrence Cummings, Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—We respectfully protest award of work for engine house No. 1, viz: "Karbolith or equal" for certain floors and wainscoting as per specifications, on the following ground:—That the Cresolite company has not performed work of this character; consequently there cannot be an award for material or workmanship which has not been properly tested and the penalty of the bond to be filed by it.

Very truly yours,
American Mason Safety Tread Co.,
Per L. H. DeWitt,
Mr. Cummings' reply was as follows:
Lowell, June 6, 1913.

Mr. Henry C. King, Pres. American Mason Safety Tread Co.

Dear Sir:—Your valued letter of June 5 at hand and contents noted. In the office of the public buildings department we requested, as you say "Karbolith or equal." We apprehended the contention that you wish to set "Karbolith" to "That nothing can equal Karbolith."

The Cresolite company has already been awarded the contract, it being the lowest bidder. It is up to that company to conform to and abide with the specifications, otherwise it will be obliged to suffer the penalty of the bond to be filed by it.

Yours respectfully,
Lawrence Cummings,
Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses and Mayor of City Messenger and Janitor.

MATRIMONIAL

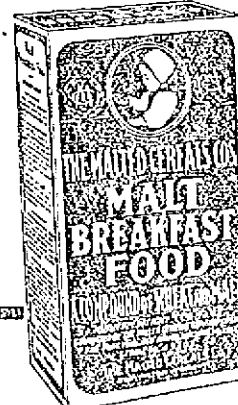

The marriage of Mr. James V. Tully and Miss Helen Gertrude Wholey was solemnized at the rectory of St. Columbus Church Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the Cathedral rectory of Boston by Rev. Fr. Hickey. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary J. Wholey. After the ceremony a reception which was attended only by the immediate relatives was held at the home of the bride's mother, 19 White street. After a brief honeymoon spent in Philadelphia the young couple will be at home to their friends at 20 Second avenue.

KNEFFE-FORD

Mr. Timothy Keefe of this city and Miss Catherine Ford of Boston were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the Cathedral rectory of Boston by Rev. Fr. Hickey. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Ford, and the best man was Mr. Charles E. Reilly. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the groom's brother in Somerville after which the happy couple left on an extended tour including New York and other places of interest. The groom presented the best man with an amethyst ring, while the bride gave her maid a handkerchief. Mr. and Mrs. Keefe will make their home in Concord, N. H. where Mr. Keefe is employed by the E. & M. R. R.

SHANAHAN-O'CONNELL

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon when Mr. Walter Shanahan and Miss Agnes O'Connell were united in marriage at North Chelmsford. They were attended by Mr. John O'Connell and Miss Teresa Reilly, brother and sister of the bride and groom, respectively. The bride was becomingly dressed in white silk crepe, trimmed with lace and pearls. Miss Patricia Ambrose, niece of the groom, acted as her flower girl. She was also dressed in

$35,000 STOLEN FROM COUNTY JAIL

Big Shortage Found on Books of Fred E. Smith, Bookkeeper, Who Died Last March

BOSTON, June 6.—A shortage of more than $35,000 has been found in the accounts of the manufacturing department of the Middlesex county house of correction at Cambridge. Conflicting stories of graft in connection with officials of the institution have already resulted in the starting of an investigation by District Attorney John J. Higgins.

While a major portion of the pecuniations are laid at the door of the late bookkeeper, Fred E. Smith, who died mysteriously on March 1 on the eve of an expert examination of the books, other money cannot be accounted for. The district attorney means to sift the matter to the bottom and he insists that if he gathers the slightest evidence he will lay the matter before the grand jury.

The shortage comes in the department over which Sheriff John R. Fairburn has charge, but started before he took charge of the jail and no accusation has been directed toward him by the Middlesex county commissioners. His surety bonds are said to cover the amount of the shortage.

Proceed Civilly

In a remarkable statement to a reporter last night Sheriff Fairburn said: "I think it is the duty of the county authorities to proceed against the civilly for the amount of money that has been taken by Fred E. Smith, since he became the bonded head of this institution."

The sensational news came late last night. The shortage had been kept a secret ever since April 23, when Sheriff John R. Fairburn notified the Middlesex county commissioners of the deficit.

Already the American Audit company of Boston and New York have overhauled the books and the examination is said to show that Smith began his manipulations on the books as far back as 1909, although it was not

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Teachers Show That Pay is Decreased

Most of the teachers in the United States have in effect had their salaries reduced since 1907. Despite an apparent increase in money received, the high cost of living has cut into their salaries just as definitely as if a school board had sliced them. A teaching position which paid $500 salary in 1907 is paying in purchasing power the equivalent of about $416 today, if measured by 1907 prices; the teacher on the $1000 salary gets no more for his money today than he would have procured 15 years ago for $693. This is what the high cost of living has done to teachers and others on a fixed salary schedule, according to a report on teachers' salaries and cost of living distributed by the United States bureau of education.

Dr. Robert C. Brooks, executive secretary for the N. E. A. committee, which prepared the report, shows by bureau of labor figures that wholesale prices in 1912 were 41.1 per cent higher than in 1907; that retail prices had increased 50.2 per cent in the same period; while in June, 1912, retail food prices were 61.7 per cent higher than in 1907. With these figures as a basis he analyzes teachers' salaries in five cities in different parts of the United States and demonstrates the plight of the teachers in the problem of increased cost of living.

According to the Brooks report, teachers do not receive enough salary, even in the cities, to save money to carry adequate life insurance or to proceed with further professional training. Out of the 1600 teachers investigated, only 13 were found who possessed property over $15,000, and practically every one of these 13 owed their good fortune to sources other than their salaries of teachers. Nearly all of the men teachers carried life insurance, but few of them to a sufficient amount. Only four out of 13 married teachers would, if they were to die now, leave in insurance or any other property as much as ten times their annual salary—the lowest sum that might be expected to provide for the family.

If the high cost of living affects particularly the teacher who seeks to marry and have a home is strikingly demonstrated. In Denver, a city of relatively high salaries, 14 married women with no others dependent upon them had an average salary of $1219 to meet their own needs exclusively; 16 unmarried women with others dependent upon them had an average from salary of $501 to spend on each adult person in the family including themselves; but the married men teachers had an average from salary of only $413 for the equivalent of each adult person including themselves.

Teachers spend more than workingmen for some things, though their pay is about the same. Rent and clothing are bigger items in the teacher's budget than in the laborer's, indicating more exacting community demands. Teachers also spend relatively more than workingmen for life insurance, religious purposes, charity, amusement, vacations, and care of health. They spend less for children's clothing—having fewer children. Not all of them economize in this way, however. "I believe," writes a Denver principal, "that teachers should attend concerts and good plays and take trips. So does my wife, but my salary necessitates a choice between these things and raising a family. We chose the latter."

Many other significant side lights on the high cost of living, particularly as it affects teachers, are brought out in the report on "Teachers' Salaries and Cost of Living." The commission of education at Washington has limited number of copies of the report for free distribution.

MAY BE DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Handbag and Hat Found on Steamship

BOSTON, June 6.—The Boston police are working on the theory that behind the discovery of a woman's handbag and a man's straw hat in the stateroom of a Portland bound steamer Wednesday night, following the report of a man seen leaping into the water, may be a murder and suicide.

The mystery was brought into Portland yesterday by the steamer Ransom R. Fuller. Her officers reported that early Wednesday night the passenger reported seeing a man leap from the vessel. In stateroom No. 69 was found a handbag in which was a card bearing the name of Mrs. Austin S. Temple, 19 Gaylord street, Dorchester, and a man's new straw hat.

Police investigation last evening elicited the information that a Mrs.

Temple resided at the address given with her sister, Mrs. Eila M. Fleming. She is 64 years of age and a widow, her husband having died a short time ago. The couple had been married but 15 years and Mr. Temple was 10 years younger than his wife.

Mrs. Fleming notified the police that her sister, Mrs. Temple, had left the house Wednesday, saying she was going to purchase a dress. She was clad in a mourning gown. Mrs. Fleming was about to notify the police of the sister's disappearance when the information of the finding of the handbag was communicated to her.

Mrs. Fleming believes that her sister wandered to the boat and took her own life during the night.

Thus far the clues furnished point to suicide, but the police are still at work trying to locate the owner of the man's hat found in the abandoned stateroom. Nothing on the ship's register discloses the identity of any male person in connection with the stateroom.

The affair occurred shortly after the steamer had passed out of Boston harbor and while off Bakers' Island. A passenger reported to the officers of the boat that he had seen a man climb over the railing and leap into the sea. There was a general cry of "Man overboard." Passengers and crew rushed to the point of the boat where the person was seen to jump.

We've Been Watching the Clothes Worn On Broadway

NOW we're ready to show the newest suits that well-dressed New Yorkers are wearing.

The most popular model, especially with the young man and man who feels young, is the semi-Norfolk. The front has all the ear marks of a stylish sack suit. The back appears as a comfortably cut Norfolk. It has natural shoulders, a close clinging collar with shaped lapels; the sleeves taper to the cuffs; patch pockets. The Norfolk back has three pleats, with inverted pleats over the shoulder blades, giving ease and comfort to the wearer. The trousers are cut straight and rather high, with cuff bottoms. The whole effect is strikingly stylish. Words cannot begin to picture its charm.

These are cut from a lot of exceptional high-class homespun and cassimere fabrics and semi-tropical worsteds in browns, greys and olive hues and in quiet checks that we have just secured fresh from the looms at bargain prices. That's why we can show you these wonderful garments at $10 and $15

For those of more conservative tastes we are showing a variety of handsome worsteds, homespuns, tweeds and serviceable serges. These are cut with broader shoulders and along more conservative lines.

SCHOOL SANITATION

It is a serious state of affairs that confronts the people of Lowell in regard to the dry closets in eleven of the schools. Of course having large schools the evil so long, it may be assumed that we can stand it in whole or in part a year longer, rather than put the city to the verge of bankruptcy by borrowing the money necessary to effect the change to a safe, sanitary and modern system. It was not expected that sooner or later the city would have a dry closet system through the city as a whole, but the fact that the state would cause an outbreak of disease in the city is a serious matter. There is a pretty conclusive proof that this is what happened at the Billings Street school. The state department of health has now changed their policy of sending out from the chimney of a school the smoke rising from the contents of "dry closets" is not one that should be commended by sanitary authorities, and certainly not by the residents in the vicinity of the school. As to the effect of the dry closet system on the health of the pupils, opinions may vary but there is good ground for believing that it is positively injurious.

Now the question arises, what will the city government do about the matter? First, an expert investigation should be made and then the system should be changed as soon as convenient beginning at the Billings Street school. It will be an expensive job but this is one of the cases in which the present generation will have to pay for the mistakes of the past, just as posterity may have to pay dearly for some of our mistakes.

To the ordinary individual it would seem that the only satisfactory elimination of refuse in schools is by means of water flushing. Whether the system that obtains in the Billings Street school is sanitary or not is certainly open to question but there can be no doubt that it is not modern. In these days when so many fads are in vogue, and when school-rooms are looked upon as so many experimental centres, the health and comfort of pupils should be most religiously guarded.

The Fuller-Warren system of heating and ventilation won a great victory over rival systems in securing the contract for the Lowell schools. The Smith-Smead system, radically different, was a formidable rival. The committee on lands and buildings, however, after very careful consideration aided and abetted by the agents of the company, decided in favor of the Fuller system dry closets and all. The people of that day thought that the very best system in existence was secured and the decision has rested firmly in the public mind ever since. This is but one of many instances in which the people have been fooled.

THE NEW NAVY

If no obstruction arises to prevent Secretary Daniels from carrying out his plans for the development of the navy, there can be no doubt that the lot of the enlisted man will be vastly improved in the near future. Unfortunately for the navy, and indirectly for the country, conditions on board ship in the past were not as glistering as they were represented on the government bulletins of the navy department, and the distribution of these expected things to be as they were described, resulted in an amazing number of desertions and consequent disorganization. No sooner did the present secretary take office than he made plans to vary the monotony of work by long-distance trips, and his latest plans promise still further improvements over the old system.

Secretary Daniels believes that the ever-increasing proficiency of modern war machinery calls for a like degree of efficiency in the men. "There is no place in the navy for a standstill," he says. "Every good officer must be a progressive." To bring this efficiency about he thinks that both officers and men should be encouraged to develop initiative as well as to follow regulations. In his own words, "You can never get the best out of any man who feels that his only duty is to obey orders and who does not feel that individual initiative will meet with encouragement."

He thinks that the greatest need of the service is for some system of education and instruction which would benefit the young men who enlist. This has been recognized in the past with the result that the ordinary man does not perform their duties as well as they would, were some system of instruction in vogue. Secretary Daniels desires to see a system in which the young man, after a year's training, is sent to sea, and is given a chance to show his worth. There is no place where a young man can learn to lead.

POLICE NURSES

A few nights ago a Lowell citizen, who suffered from epilepsy, became the victim of the efforts of the police. The police, who were dispatched to the house, found the patient in a state of unconsciousness. The police, who were dispatched to the house, found the patient in a state of unconsciousness. The police, who were dispatched to the house, found the patient in a state of unconsciousness.

of the sick man to protect him from doing injury to himself or his family. He could not be taken to the station and he should not if he could; he would not be received at the local hospitals in his dangerous condition, and the police were obliged to remain by his bed in the character of nurses until morning because, because—note it well—we have no contagious hospital. Now this is a most interesting situation. They have now changed their policy, and the further change into white linen caps, would not seem so extreme; they have had some splendid medical lectures; they are noted for their gentleness. Unless we get a contagious hospital, there is a great deal for their trained medical mind-sets, and surely some of these on the longer boats would welcome the change. But failing this, we certainly do need a contagious hospital, and sooner or later we must have it.

CHILD LABOR BILL

The Massachusetts child labor committee which has been successful in getting a very satisfactory child labor bill through the house and before the senate, has used some very convincing arguments in support of the measure, chief of which is the fact that the bill introduces little that is new into state legislation, but is complete, and comprehensive enough to ensure the enforcement of all previous regulations with regard to child labor—many of which were disregarded on technical grounds. For instance, one of its sections adds to the existing laws governing child labor in mercantile establishments, some branches of industry that have heretofore escaped this classification, although rightfully belonging there.

Seven states now have enforced all the regulations in the proposed law, and ten states are striving for its enactment at the present time. It aims at making the laws of all states in this respect uniform—a condition much to be desired. The only new provision of importance—and the one most bitterly opposed—is the establishment of an eight-hour day for children under sixteen. Many adults already have it including such trades as carpentry, plumbing, paper hanging, stone-cutting, etc. Thirteen states give children under sixteen the same privilege. It is opposed here mainly by the textile interests, but it is found practicable in New York and Ohio. Surely what has been found advisable for many adults is necessary for children. The bill deserves the same success in the senate which it enjoyed in the house.

SCHOOL "LUNCHEONS"

The municipal council has voted to request the school board to investigate the subject of "school lunches" and to report back to the municipal board in order that that body may determine whether an appropriation may be necessary for the purpose. In view of the fact that several of the schools have been found to be in a very unsanitary condition, it would appear that something more serious than luncheons for school children should occupy the attention of the school board for some time and possibly also the attention of the municipal board. We are inclined to believe that the school board will not waste much time investigating the matter thus submitted for its consideration. There is no actual necessity at present for any extraordinary action in this direction. The only case in which a lunch counter might be necessary is in connection with the high school, where the pupils are not allowed to leave the class rooms at dinner hour. Some cities in such cases do provide a lunch counter where children can get what they want at cost. This, however, does not seem to be the idea entertained by the commissioner who has brought the matter to public attention. But as it has been introduced only for advertising purposes it is useless to discuss the matter seriously.

THE DERBY INCIDENT

The foolish woman who rushed before the king's horse at the Derby showed more originality than some of her fanatical sisters, but not a whit more sense. If she sought personal advertising she surely got it, but had she climbed the tower of London, set herself on fire, and jumped into the Thames, or gone a thousand feet into the air over Windsor castle in a balloon and jumped without a parachute, a story would have been the same. What the connection is between acts such as these and the cause of woman suffrage we fail to see, but evidently much of the militant suffragette energy is devoted to sensationalism. It is doubtful whether the spectacle who witnessed very different from the efforts of the Derby incident. The Derby incident, however, is more discreditable to the cause than the efforts of the police, and some officers were dispatched to the house. They restrained the patient, and put him on the stretcher. Her sisters will probably strap that are used in cases of this kind. The general public, however, is not so easily fooled. The efforts remained at the side unable to call her a lunatic.

Seen and Heard

The new clergyman (who has not yet had time to fathom the sporting instincts of his parishioners)—"And don't you think that if, instead of keeping that useless dog, you bought a pig, for instance, it would be more profitable to you and your family?" The parishioner—"Ye-es—an' a proper sivil kilt I'd look goin' rattlin' w' a pig, shouldn't I?"

FIN OF FORGIVING

Sometimes I'm almost glad to hear when I get home that they've been bad. And though I try to look severe, within my heart I'm really glad. When mother tells me to go to the list of awful things they've done, because when they come tearfully, forgiving them is so much fun.

I like to have them all alone, with no one near to hear or see. Then, as their little hearts they own, I like to take them on my knee and talk it over and pretend the whipping soon must be begun. And then to kiss them at the end—forgiving them is so much fun.

Within the world there's no such charm as children's penitence and joy. Who put two soft and chubby arms around your neck when they've been bad. And, as you view their trembling lips, away your temper starts to run. And from your mind all anger flies—forgiving them is so much fun.

If there were nothing to forgive, I wonder if we'd love them so. If they were wise enough to live as grownups do, and ever go. Along the pleasant path of right, with never a fault from sun to sun. A lot of boys would miss at night—forgiving them is so much fun.

There is an internal combustion engine being demonstrated in this city. It is a very small engine, and it is very powerful. It is a very small engine, and it is very powerful. It is a very small engine, and it is very powerful.

SULPHOLAC has direct influence on sebaceous glands, pimples, blackheads and all unhealthy skin conditions. It is wonderfully penetrating and removes all waste matter, all impurities and unhealthy tissue that hamper the health of the skin. The pores are either by air or water, and is said to run even if jacketed with asbestos to keep the heat in; it has no fans, pumps or radiators; its piston has no rings; it uses no carburetor, and it maintains all sorts of the highest speeds, says the New York Times.

This strange new entrant in the motor engine field, which is the invention of P. G. Timmer, ran on crude oil, kerosene, fuel oil, and a sort of asphaltic fuel produced in large quantities by gas works and now treated as a waste product and used for road sprinkling. It also operated on various mixtures of these fuels, starting cold on a crude oil rather rich in gasoline, and on the mixed fuels after they had already passed through the engine and been burned. The fatty substance used was said to be about twenty degrees lower on the Reaume scale than any on which the Diesel engine had been able to operate.

The engine, which demonstrated these odd capabilities was an old gasoline engine of single cylinder, having a bore of 3 1/2 inches and a stroke of 4 1/2 inches. It had neither water jacket nor air cooling device. The ignition was by means of high tension spark plugs and the fuel feed direct. There was no carburetor, the vaporizing of the fuel taking place within the cylinder outside the cylinder. A piston such as that in the engine was with a cupped head and without any of the usual piston rings. It was not tapered, but fashioned to a fit of about one-half thousandth of an inch along its whole length.

An English social worker says that one-third of the girls in the dressmaking and millinery trades in her country receive no pay at all. They are classed as apprentices, but they do a great part of the work. The women who buy hats and dresses should refuse products of unpaid or underpaid labor. It is too much like accepting a donation.

"The Old Man" in a one minute sermon in the Manchester Union has the following to say of a peculiar type of complainer whom he likens unto a class well known to Dickens: Mrs. Gummidge was of a type well known to Dickens, and by no means wholly extinct in our day. She was wont to think of herself and to describe herself as a "long, lorn creature, with whom 'everything' went contrary. Almost everyone knows at least one Mrs. Gummidge, or Mr. Gummidge, for the habit of thinking one's self peculiarly unfortunate is not a matter of sex. A queer thing about the Gummidges is that while they are sincere in believing themselves exceptionally unfortunate, they do not expect others to believe in, and try to excuse their excess of woe on the ground of super-sensitiveness. "I feel it worse than others," the original Mrs. Gummidge used to assert, and she repeated the assertion so often that she came to believe that, too. There are many Gummidges scattered in the world, and very miserable they are. Observation and common sense teach them that their troubles are but the common lot of humanity, but they cherish the conviction that a peculiarity in their constitution causes such exquisite suffering as others know nothing of. In different phrases, it may be but with the same thought, they repeat with Mrs. Gummidge, "I feel it more than others," while on the same street, in the same home, maybe, a woman is enduring in silence the agony of a disease that is eating her life away, or a man is going and coming, and doing good work day after day, who rarely or never knows what it is to be free from pain. They are depressing people, the Gummidges, to those who have burdens of their own, and who has not? Yet there is hope for them. They may some day be aroused from their egotism and selfish misapprehensions, and help where there is pressing need. Mrs. Gummidge was a different woman when trouble came to Emily.

BREEDING FARM TO BE ESTABLISHED IN BILERICA SOON

Company Has Been Formed and Incorporated—Remarkable History of the Industry

There is to be established in the vicinity of Lowell an industry that has won a reputation for elevating men of no more than ordinary financial status, who have been its promoters to the class of millionaires in a comparatively short space of time. This wealth-producing industry is, in few words, the breeding of silver-black foxes and a ranch for this purpose is soon to be established in BilERICA. This enterprise has already opened a field of business that, according to experts, gives promise of becoming one of the most lucrative on the North American continent.

Mr. Lemuel C. Woodbury, who at present owns and conducts such a ranch in Whitefield, N. H., with remarkable success, is prominently instrumental in the establishing of a like field near Lowell, his wide experience in the industry and knowledge of the care of the foxes being regarded as perhaps the most valuable asset of the company as it is. The president of the company is Mr. L. A. Wheeler and Mr. Oliver Stevens of this city is vice president; treasurer, Henry A. Savage; secretary, E. T. Wheeler; directors, above named, with L. C. Woodbury. It will be known as the Imperial Fur and Breeding company. All have been interested in the project for some time and have examined Mr. Woodbury's farm with reference to building up a similar business. They succeeded in interesting Mr. Woodbury, director and overseer of the BilERICA fox ranch. A short time ago the company was incorporated and all ready there has been a demand for stock.

As has been set forth in a short press item some time ago, the site chosen for the industry is the Wayside farm in BilERICA on the Woburn electric line. The place comprises about 40 acres, a good part of which is woodland. Mr. Woodbury after an examination of the premises declared it to be the best possible location for the raising of the silver black fox that could possibly be found in this part of the country. An added reason for locating in BilERICA was the fact that it is known that red foxes are very numerous in that district, a proof that it is a good country for the successful raising of foxes.

At present Mr. Woodbury is planning the arrangement of the pens which are to be constructed upon the land procured for the purpose. It is necessary to have everything as near like the natural element and home of the animal as possible, and to this end the trees will be in a great measure left standing and the pens built among them. The pens consist of a cement wall going deep into the ground so as to prevent the animals from digging their way out, and a wire netting above. A high fence of part cement will be constructed all about the grounds, and between this and the pens there will be a runway so that if a fox should manage to get out of the pen he will be confronted with the difficulty of getting out of the runway, which will be practically impossible according to the plans. Mr. Woodbury is clad over the prospects which the general topography of the section chosen affords for successful business.

It might be well to state here that these foxes will be raised to be sold for breeding purposes, for in this way the greatest financial returns are accumulated. The animals sold in this manner are worth from $30,000 to $40,000 per pair, while the skin of one black silver fox has been known to sell for $3000. There is a very great demand for them by men who are willing and even eager to pay the price.

The local company has contracted for five pairs to come from the Woodbury ranch in New Hampshire, and with these the industry will start, in all probability being inaugurated this coming fall. A perfect skin is jet black with the exception of silver touches about the back, rumps and the tip of the tail. The gray begins half way between the root and the tip of the hair. They are a beautiful animal and their fur is of the finest quality, as may be readily seen from the enormous price which a single pelt brings. The silver black fox is, moreover, the only valuable fur bearing animal which can be raised in captivity, and this adds greatly to the prospects of the enterprise for a brilliant future.

The originator of the business is said to be Hon. Charles Dalton, who, realizing the prospects, started a fox farm in Prince Edward Island some years ago. Since that time there have been up to the present about 60 such companies formed at that place. With the exception of these, there are few in existence. Boston men have formed companies for the purpose of breeding the foxes but in nearly every case they have taken the industry to Prince Edward Island. In a short time Dalton became enormously wealthy out of the business, and the others have done likewise.

There are from two to eight whelps in a litter and great care is required for the preservation of the little foxes. For this reason Mr. Woodbury's past experience will be the principal assurance of the success of this particular enterprise. His success with his own farm in the White Mountains has been remarkable and he feels confident that the same will characterize the local project.

This is an absolute novelty for this district, and people are beginning to evince great interest in the plan and to study the results of other similar enterprises. The work on the pens and fences is going ahead rapidly and they will be ready early in the fall for their silken furred occupants, who are actually worth their weight in gold.

AUTO CRASHED INTO POLE

Boys Hurlled Out and Badly Injured

FITCHBURG, June 6.—Edward Welch, 15 years of age, of Congress street, this city, was seriously injured and a companion, whom he was teaching to run an automobile, was severely hurt when their machine, alleged to have been speeding at 40 miles an hour, on a sharp turn on the Lunenburg road, grazed another automobile and crashed into a telephone pole.

The pole was broken off six feet from the ground and the automobile, out in haste to its center by the impact, the accident happened late yesterday afternoon. Welch received a concussion of the brain when he was hurled to the ground. His companion, a boy of the same age, named James Corley, was badly cut and bruised. Both, it is believed, will recover.

The two young men had been to Lunenburg in the machine, which is the property of Welch's father. They were bound toward Fitchburg. The highway is a state road. On the border of Fitchburg is a bad curve in the road. It was on this curve that Welch and his companion were riding when the crash occurred. The machine was a 1912 model, and was being driven by Welch. The crash brought out residents from near by houses.

Falling Bolt Kills Lynx Man

LYNN, June 6.—Martin Cahill died at his home, 137 Williams avenue, this city, yesterday from injuries received some 10 days since by being struck by a heavy iron bolt while walking under the new elevated bridge in Central square. He was 75 years of age.

Be Sure Your Kidneys Are Working Rightly

If you have the backache frequently, if you have twinges of pain that may be at rheumatism or neuritis, you may know that your kidneys are not getting rid of the uric acid as Nature intended. Weakened kidneys need just the help that

38 PICKETS CONVICTED

Of Unlawful Assemblage at Paterson

PATERSON, N. J., June 6.—Thirty-eight silk workers who 25 pickets gathered in front of a mill during strike disturbances on April 25, were convicted of unlawful assemblage last night by a county court jury.

The defendants, one of them a 17-year-old girl, face a prison sentence of from one to three years, or a fine of any amount up to $300, or may be imprisoned and fined. Many of the prisoners are members of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Judge Klenert, in charging the jury, directed that the question of picketing be not considered, but that the jury decide whether the defendants disobeyed police orders to move and whether the law was violated when the men gathered near the mill doors.

Hannah Silverman, the girl prisoner, was described by the prosecution as a leader. Yesterday while attending the arraignment of a striker arrested the night before, she disturbed the court, and was given a 30-day sentence.

William D. Haywood and other industrial workers of the World leaders will be tried Monday by a "foreign jury" drawn from talesmen impaneled from another county.

Strikers yesterday appointed a committee of 15 to confer with manufacturers today with a view to arranging hearings at which it is hoped to reach a basis of settlement of the strike, now closing its 13th week.

MOTORCYCLIST KILLED

Rider Was Leaving Track at Detroit

DETROIT, Mich., June 6.—Edward Holystee of Flint, Mich., was killed at the motorcrome speedway here yesterday while practicing on a motorcycle.

He was learning the track in preparation for racing when he lost control of the machine. Going at full speed, he shot up to the top of the track, struck the guard rail and dropped several feet to the bottom with the motorcycle on top of him.

Theatre Voyons

Today the Theatre Voyons will show for the first time in Lowell a most interesting biograph, "The Mother's Son."

It is acted by Joe Marsh, Walter Miller and W. Christie Miller, the latter the well known biograph old man. Its story is true to life and most dramatically played. "Alkali Ike's Misfortunes" is a regular gale of laughter, in fact it is the best of all the Alkali Ike pictures, and they have been supreme as laugh-getters for a long time.

WILSON LOCKED OUT

Made Fifth Visit to Halls of Congress

SESSION HAD ADJOURNED, AND PRESIDENT SURPRISED OFFICER

Appeared Late Yesterday With Biggest List of Diplomatic Selections He Has Made Since Taking Office

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Wilson appeared unexpectedly at the president's room at the capitol late yesterday with the biggest list of diplomatic selections he has made since he took office.

It was the president's fifth visit to the halls of congress but this time he found the door of the "marble room" locked, the senate had adjourned and the sergeant-at-arms was taken by surprise.

"I guess I'll have to get a duplicate key for this door," said the president smilingly as the sergeant-at-arms hastily dispatched a messenger for the key. Hardly any senators were in the building, but Secretary Tumulty soon sent out a call for about 20 of them and they came in quickly from the senate office building.

While the president has not definitely fixed on some of the countries to which he will make diplomatic appointments, he has chosen the men who will get the posts and about these consulted republican as well as democratic senators from home states.

The individuals about whom the president talked and some of the countries follow:

Thomas Nelson Page of Virginia, to be ambassador to Italy.

Justice J. W. Gerard, New York, to be ambassador to Spain when the bill making Madrid an embassy instead of a legation is passed, probably within a few weeks.

Col. Thomas H. Blitch, New Jersey, to be minister to Persia.

Charles W. McAlpin, secretary of Princeton university, to be minister to The Netherlands.

Joseph E. Willard, Virginia, to be minister to Belgium.

Major E. J. Hill, North Carolina, to be minister to Costa Rica.

P. A. Stovall, Georgia, to be minister to Switzerland.

Former Gov. Benton McMillin, Tennessee, to be minister to Peru.

Dr. J. L. Jefferson, Colorado, to be minister to a South American country, probably Argentina or Chile.

Henry Morgenthau, New York, to be minister, probably Turkey.

Albert Schmedemann, Wisconsin, to be minister to Norway.

Frederick C. Penfield, Pennsylvania, probably ambassador to Austria.

When the president got through talking to the senators he met the newspapermen in the corridor and explained that his visit had been chiefly about diplomatic appointments and that no official list would be made public until word was received from the various foreign governments as to the acceptability of the individuals selected.

Senators James and Stone talked tariff and inquired about the proposed amendment concerning the tobacco industry but learned that the president had not given full consideration to it at yet.

The president left the capitol as inconspicuously as he came. The attendants held an elevator for him but the president thanked them and declined.

"I guess I'm a good democrat and can walk down," he said with a laugh.

ANTI-TRUST AMENDMENT

An Additional Tax on Tobacco Proposed

WASHINGTON, June 5.—In accord with suggestions of Attorney General McReynolds, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, introduced yesterday an anti-trust amendment to the Underwood tariff bill, which would levy a special additional excise tax on a sliding or graduated scale upon manufacturers of tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and snuff.

The amendment, coming from a democratic member, will receive thorough consideration from the finance committee.

The progressive excise tax proposed would not reach a manufacturer until he controlled about 25 per cent. of the total production of the articles. Over that amount he would be taxed in a rising scale on tobacco one cent a pound for the first million pounds and so on up to six cents a pound. This graduated tax would be in addition to the regular eight cents a pound tax that all manufacturers pay on tobacco.

The same is true of the progressive tax on cigars, cigarettes and snuff. Companies of ordinary size would not be subject to this tax because it does not apply to a production below eighty million pounds of tobacco or four million pounds of snuff a year, and that of the 2700 tobacco companies in the country probably only three would be affected and of the 71 snuff companies also only three would be taxed.

In the matter of cigars the tax would fall on only three companies out of 173 and of the 29,000 cigar companies only two have a product large enough to be taxed.

Seventy million dollars was the amount of the total excise last year on tobacco products and Senator Hitchcock has estimated that if the proposed tax had been levied on last year's business the "cigar trust" would have paid the additional tax as follows: American Tobacco company, $7,500,000; Liggett & Myers $3,100,000; Lorillard company $1,100,000; American Snuff company $77,000; George W. Heine company, $65,000; Weyman & Burton company, $31,000.

"It is probable," said Senator Hitchcock today, "that this tax in the aggregate would reach $15,000,000 a year, which is so large that it would force a real dissolution of the tobacco trust. If it did not it would yield a handsome revenue to the treasury and so handicap the trust that it could not carry out its program of crushing independent companies."

Senator Borah has introduced an amendment to the tariff bill which would bar from entry all goods manufactured wholly or in part by children under 16 years of age who are required to work more than eight hours a day or more than 48 hours a week. It would also bar all imports made wholly or in part by convict labor.

SUIT AGAINST SHOE CO.

Competitors Testify for Government

BOSTON, June 5.—"Nothing but the blue sky" was the description Sidney W. Winslow, president of the United Shoe Machinery company, gave of what was in store for Frank W. Merrick and Clarence S. Luitweiler after they refused to sell out to him, according to the testimony yesterday of Mr. Luitweiler in the government's dissolution proceedings against the United company.

Mr. Luitweiler is treasurer and Mr. Merrick, president of the United Shoe company of East Boston, which is manufacturing stitching machines in competition with the United Shoe Machinery company.

Both testified that they met Mr. Winslow at a Boston hotel in 1905 and were told by him after they had refused to sell: "I'll see that you will never make a dollar."

Merrick testified that he regarded it as a business bluff, a threat given to offset his decision on the proposition of selling out to Mr. Winslow. He said Mr. Winslow asked him how much money he had and when told that he had enough to get along on, Winslow, according to the witness, said he would make Merrick's machines.

"You know what happened to Parsons of Marlboro, don't you?" asked Winslow, according to Merrick's testimony. "Well, we tried to buy him out, but he refused and we made his machines and put them out at a less price than he could build them."

Luitweiler testified that Mr. Winslow then walked over to the window and, looking out, said to the man and his companion:

"Do you see what you have before you? Nothing but the blue sky. This is like a game of roulette. Your proposition will stop before me some day."

When he was asked in cross examination by Charles F. Choate, counsel for the defense, if he had any feeling in the matter, Merrick replied: "Possibly. There are a few things that stick in my memory as they would in yours, Mr. Choate, if someone had throttled you."

The court refused to allow the testimony on that point to go in except through the testimony of the owners of the factory.

BIG LIBRARY VOTING CONTEST

Creates Intense Interest—Beautiful Books on Display at Macartney's Clothing Store

The announcement of the great library contest in recent issues of The Sun has excited no end of enthusiastic comment among its thousands of regular readers. Already hundreds are making beaten paths for the handsome window display of books at Macartney's Clothing Store window. All seem to realize that in these fine books a value is placed at the option of the public which can hardly be measured by dollars. These fine books are not only pieces in virtue of text but are clothed in the physical refinement of the efforts of these immortal writers. To describe and when we stop and consider that all this wealth of information and entertainment is now accessible to the schools, clubs, societies, lodges, etc., of Lowell without cost it is only natural to expect this word of popular approval.

The voting began in all the stores Wednesday and it is safe to say that a large number of our best and most popular institutions and organizations are enrolled as contestants for the awards.

This contest is now a matter of absorbing interest in several of our sister cities of Massachusetts and has been conducted to a most satisfactory and successful conclusion in cities like Brockton, New Bedford and Fitchburg. Lowell is not going to prove an exception to the rule unless it be by an exceptional interest shown.

The many merchants who have interested themselves in the affair are deserving of every praise for their progressive attitude for they have bought and paid for the fine books as well as paid the promoter, Mr. A. O. Johnson of 32 Union Square, New York City to conduct the contest to its conclusion.

The plan is conducted along purely scientific lines by a concern that has devoted twelve years to this special line of work and this alone assures everyone of an accurate and impartial result. All votes are counted by experts in New York City before they are permitted to enter the returns published. Therefore it is only essential for the interested public to lend their energies toward mustering their forces together and putting up the best possible contest for sole honors. Our committees appointed to assume charge of the various avenues for obtaining votes, such as The Sun coupon, the broad labels, the laundry slip, the cigar bands, cigarette boxes, the merchant role, etc. These committees are absolutely essential to the best results and when appointed will feel their responsibility and devote their spare time towards advancing the cause they are identified with.

The Sun coupon proposition is announced on page 17 and readers should begin at once to avail themselves of the magnificent source of votes and when you know this feature is operating with assurance in your home and among your immediate friends, turn your attention to every other source of votes and use by one establish the same efficiency, particularly that of the retail merchants in order that your functions as a voter may be real and genuine and not one who is voting here and lapsing there.

Watch The Sun every day for news of the contest. It will always be more or less advisory and should be read by all interested. For any information always address:

LIVE NEWS FROM CHILMARK CENTRE

Annual Children's Night Held at Grange Meeting—Old Soldiers Going to Gettysburg

The annual children's night at the Chilmark Grange was held last evening at the Odd Fellows hall, a very large number of guests were present, besides the children. At six o'clock a beautiful spread was given, consisting of sandwiches, cream and a variety of cakes. About seventy boys and girls were seated at the tables and still more arrived for the entertainment which started at eight o'clock. The entertainment consisted of many enjoyable acts, given by children only.

The program was as follows: Piano solo, by Miss Grace Dupue, of Lowell; sketch, "The Doctor's Visit," given by Gertrude Brown, Marion Brennan, William Berg and Andrew Sheehan, consisting of one act; piano duet by Mildred and Bernice Leland, which was enjoyed; recitation by Little Blaisdell, entitled "Harrow Scare"; song by Ida Palmgren; recitation by Kenneth Ryan and Ruth Holder, corner solo, by William Berg, accompanied by his brother Ralph, on the piano; reading by Marion Brennan; title by the Misses Grace Dupue, Christina O'Brien and Bernice Qua, all of Lowell; song by Mildred Vickery; dialogue, "The Sick Dolly," by Ida Palmgren and Kenneth Ryan; piano solo by Miss Fannie Blaisdell; recitation by Miss Grace Palmgren. The supper was in charge of Mrs. John Parker, Mrs. Holder, Mrs. Fadden, Mrs. Walter Vickery, Mrs. Dupue and Mrs. E. D. Harris.

After the entertainment the regular meeting of the Grange was held.

Horse Badly Gored

On Wednesday afternoon an exceedingly large bull owned by Mr. Greenberg on Billerica street, while being led along the highway, sprang at the horse owned by Mr. Anton Hedstrom of Billerica street and succeeded in injuring the horse to such an extent that Mr. Greenberg felt obliged to purchase it. The bull is a very ugly one and always showed its dislike for horses, the horse which was wounded was deeply gored in the breast and is now under the care of Dr. Harris.

Mr. Harold Corson of South street has ordered a new twin "Excelsior" motorcycle. The machine is to have a side car.

A. Heady Park, the last elected selectman has purchased a Cadillac touring car of last year's design. His son Quincy will operate the machine.

The topic of the town at present is that of the grand reunion of the old soldiers who fought in the Battle of Gettysburg. Several of the remaining Civil war soldiers who fought in that battle will join those who are going to the old battlefield in Gettysburg, soon.

Principal Fisher of the Industrial school visited the Chilmark high school today and gave a talk upon the work of the Industrial school.

THE POLO DEFENDERS

Foxhall Keene is New Captain

NEW YORK, June 6.—Foxhall Keene, captain of the new polo team which will defend the international cup against the English challengers at Meadowbrook beginning June 10, was a member of the first American international team, which was defeated by the quartet of Englishmen in 1886 at Newport, when the trophy went to the Hurlingham club, where it resided through the result of victories by England in 1900 and 1902. Keene was considered without a peer in the fitness of the game at that time. In all of his work this spring when lined up against the "big four" he has been the one man to anticipate plays by the opposition. While not as powerful in his strokes as during the earlier period of his polo career, he always proved a bothersome individual when he was on the ball. The only exception ever taken to his play has been that it savored too much of individualism, although he is not accused of being what is termed a "selfish" player.

TEXTILE GRADUATION

the required final examinations for graduation. The speaker of the afternoon was Frederick W. Hamilton, D.D., LL.D., a member of the state board of education and a former president of Tufts college, who dwelt at length on the usefulness of the Textile school, and the good results derived from such an institution.

The exercises were held at two o'clock and the opening was an overture by Hubbard's orchestra. This number was followed by an address of welcome by Mr. A. G. Cunningham, chairman of the trustees of the school, who as usual enlivened the work of the school. He welcomed the many out-of-town guests who honored the graduates and the faculty of the school by their presence, especially the notable speakers, and he closed by extending his best wishes to the graduates who are soon to enter a new field.

Mr. Cunningham's address was well received and the next speaker was Mayor James E. O'Donnell, who spoke in part as follows:

Mayor O'Donnell's Address
Gentlemen:
As mayor of Lowell, I have the honor to extend to you the congratulations of a community which through a principal feature of its industries is known from ocean to ocean as "The Spindle City." In the textile industry it has kept pace with all competing cities and continues to rank as one of the greatest textile centers in the world. But in the important matter of textile education, which progress has made a prerequisite to success in the city of Lowell, in the possession of this magnificent institution, ranks first, I believe, among the cities of the world.

In days gone by, as each year brought about the commencement exercises of the colleges of the country, we would learn from their records what proportion of the graduates had chosen a professional life, and what proportion a business life; the professions being limited to law, medicine and theology, and completely apart from the ordinary business pursuits. But in this wonderful twentieth century of ours the old time classification has been broken down and business itself is a profession, and among the new professions to which such excellent institutions as this are devoted is that of manufacturing. In a recent magazine article I read the following definition of a profession:

"First, A profession is an occupation for which the holder is specially trained; it is intellectual in character, involving knowledge and to some extent learning as distinguished from mere skill."

Second, It is an occupation which is pursued largely for others and not merely for one's self.

Third, It is an occupation in which the amount of financial return is not the acme of the endeavor. With this definition in mind, is not the graduate of the Lowell Textile school a professional business man? Here, the student is trained along practical as well as theoretical lines. He is taught to work for the advancement of the world in general, by attaining perfection in his particular line of manufacture, and it is impressed upon him that his success depends upon the excellence of his work as well as upon the amount of money he makes.

In these days of unprecedented progress in all lines of human activity one hears ever the great slogan of success, "efficiency" and "efficiency." The demand for efficiency far exceeds the supply and, hence, the price of efficiency is high. The Lowell Textile school promotes efficiency and in doing so is worth every dollar spent by state and city for its maintenance. If you, gentlemen, who go forth today fortified with an education of its kind second to none have a bright future before you. As your predecessors have done, go forth and do likewise, and keep up the reputation of your Alma Mater, as the greatest textile school the world has ever known.

The mayors remarks were warmly applauded. Mr. Bert P. Taylor, the well known local entertainer, rendered a corned solo, entitled "Last Night Was the End of the World." This musical selection greatly pleased the large audience. The next speaker on the program was Frederick W. Hamilton, D.D., LL.D., whose remarks were very interesting. The able speaker, who is a former president of Tufts college, spoke at length on textile work and education, and he also took advantage to congratulate the graduates.

The graduates were as follows:

Herbert Bowen Bennett, Lowell, Mass., wool manufacturing.
Charles Joseph Clary, Boston, Mass., wool manufacturing.
Kenneth Bartlett Cook, Concord, Mass., cotton manufacturing.
Arthur Napoleon Daviau, Cohasset, Mass., textile engineering.
Alexander Duncan Davis, Lowell, Mass., textile engineering.

ONEL—The funeral of Patrick ONEL took place this morning from his late home, 348 Fletcher street, at 10 o'clock and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church, where the funeral services were celebrated at 10 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Kerrigan. The choir under the direction of Mr. Michael Johnson sang the Gregorian mass and the body was being borne from the church the choir sang "The Profundus" Miss Alice Murphy and Mr. Andrew McCarthy sang the offertory. Rev. Fr. Michael Johnson presided at the organ. Among the floral tributes were: Large wreath from family. Others who sent flowers were: Misses Josephine and Mary McGrath and several spiritual benefactors from friends. The bearers were Dennis O'Neil, Jeremiah Minahan, John Williams, Donald Shanahan, Michael Johnson and John Kane. Interment was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. Fr. Kerrigan read the burial service. The casket was borne by St. Patrick's band and the funeral procession was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

CARDEN—The funeral of the late Francis E. Carden took place this morning from his late home, 123 Hildewell st., at 10 o'clock and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church, where the funeral services were celebrated at 10 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Kerrigan. The choir under the direction of Mr. Michael Johnson sang the Gregorian mass and the body was being borne from the church the choir sang "The Profundus" Miss Alice Murphy and Mr. Andrew McCarthy sang the offertory. DEATHS
Brady, one stepdaughter, Mrs. Colla McDermott; one brother, John McDermott; and two sisters, Mrs. Katherine McDermott and Mrs. Sarah Egan.

HEALY—Mrs. Winifred Healy died suddenly at her home on Broadway in Cambridge, early Thursday morning. She was 67 years of age and was the wife of John Healy, a well known miller, and many friends in Graniteville, Forge Village and North Chelmsford. She was a member of St. Catherine's church. The deepest sympathy is expressed for the bereaved daughter in this sad hour.

KELLEHER—John Kelleher died suddenly at his home near 46 Chapel street, last evening, aged 55 years. The man had worked all day, and appeared in his usual health, until suddenly taken ill at his home, where he died shortly afterward.

He is survived by four sons, John, William, Helen and brother, Thomas, and one sister, Mrs. Annie Coleman. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of C. H. Molloy.

HARRIS—Frank H. Harris died last night at his home, 28 South street, aged 71 years. He was well known in this city as a business man, and at the time of his death was the proprietor of the Lowell Hotel on Central street.

Mr. Harris was a Civil war veteran and was connected with other localities than the Lowell Hotel. The first hotel conducted by him at this city was the Harris house, which was situated at the corner of the Lowell Hotel and in the old days it was more or less a headquarters for politicians especially the democrats of old ward one. Mr. Harris had the Old Washington tavern, too, for a time, and for several years, had a hotel in North Chelmsford.

Warranted to be a good horse, a good trotting park at the old Chelmsford. After quitting the hotel business Mr. Harris, in later years, was steward at the Central club.
